Second Vote on Sewer Bonds Urged

Vaughn Says City Must Act

Official Vote Count Awaited

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said today he will recommend that city council put the $500,000 sewer bond issue on the ballot for a second time if the final count by the election board shows the issue was defeated Tuesday.

The final unofficial vote count showed that the measure failed to pass by fifteen-thousandths of a per cent.

In terms of votes, the measure missed approval by the margin of 34. It needed 10,077 and received 10,043. Actually, a shift of 18 votes from the "against" to the "for" column will pass the measure.

The election board is making an ofifcial count, and the results are expected by Tuesday.

"We've got to have the money to rehabilitate our storm sewer system, and a bond issue seems the only way to get the needed funds," the mayor said.

SECOND PLAN OPEN

Actually, another path is open to council. By law, council can order the sanitary sewer system repaired and assess the costs against the property owners.

However, this method has not been the policy of the city for a number of years. City officials have preferred to allow the voters to decide if they want to spend the money for such work.

Informed observers pointed out, however, that as a last resort, the city may be forced to take such action.

Money for storm sewer repair and building comes from the general funds. The expected total general fund revenue for 1949 is expected to be between $500,000 and $600,000. Observers point out that obviously, if money is obtained for the storm sewer work, it must either come in the form of a bond issue or from special assessments.

Army Hangs 14 Germans

LANDSBERG, Germany—(AP)—Fourteen former Nazis, including district party leaders and concentration camp guards, were hanged today for the murder of American fliers and concentration camp inmates.

One condemned man scheduled to hang today was reprieved at the last moment. He was Georg Schallermeier, 53, former SS guard at Dachau, convicted of beating and starving Dachau inmates.

He filed a last minute petition which U. S. army authorities, who conducted the hangings, said had "sufficient merit" to justify reopening and studying his case.

The 14 men were hanged in two hours and 40 minutes.

Blast Rocks Massillon Cafe

MASSILLON —(AP)— The Oriole Home Restaurant and Bar, located about three blocks from this city's downtown section, was damaged early this morning by a dynamite bomb.

The bomb exploded at the basement entrance leading to the bar and the blast was heard for several miles.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Campbell, part-owners of the establishment, were asleep in an upstairs apartment at the time of the explosion but were uninjured.

Force of the blast blew a door across the room onto the bar and shattered virtually every window. The foundation near the entrance to the bar also was cracked.

DEDICATE BUILDING

ATHENS—(AP)—A new $750.000 chemistry building is to be dedicated at Ohio university today. The four-story building includes 14 laboratories, a large lecture room, and three class rooms.

Gallup Will Furnish and Eat Own Crow

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Although President Truman turned down a turkey meal at the Washington Post's proposed crow-eating dinner, one of the pollsters who was offered crow has accepted the invitation.

George Gallup even offered to bring his own crow.

"In our business," the pollster's wire said, "we could undoubtedly use Mr. Truman's forecasting ability, but since he has another position for the next four years I would personally like to present a bouquet to him at your eat-crow dinner.

"Will bring own crow."

70 Dead Or Missing In Air Crashes

Five American Planes Involved

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. —(INS)—A B-29 bomber crash-landed today on the Patty Jewett golf course on the northeast edge of Colorado Springs. No other information was immediately available.

★

(By United Press)

Seventy Americans were listed as dead or missing today in a series of five airplane disasters around the world.

Thirty-one were known dead in two B-29 crashes and one was missing. Thirty-eight others were missing aboard two Navy patrol bombers and a Pacific Alaska airliner which were overdue and believed down in the North Pafific.

Eighteen of the victims, all air force personnel, were killed in the crash of a B-29 superfortress in the Azores Wednesday night. The plane was en route from England to its home field, MacDill air force base, Fla. One flier was missing and another was injured in the crash.

Another 13 U.S. airmen were killed in the crash of a B-29 superfortress on a moor 13 miles southeast of Manchester, England, while taking part in maneuvers Wednesday.

The missing airliner, a DC-3 en route from Sitka, Alaska, to Seattle, Wash., carried 15 passengers and two crew members. It was presumed lost between Sitka and Annette Island where it was due at 8:57 a. m. PST yesterday. It was last heard from over Cape Spencer at 7:10 a. m. PST.

Pacific Alaska airlines identified the pilot as Edward Kinnear. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Klug, Milwaukee, Wis.; Robert Machrle, St. Louis, Mo.; and George Dudley, Roanoke, Va., were listed among the passengers.

A four-engine Navy Privateer with a crew of 12 aboard was lost in the Bristol Bay area of western Alaska. It left Kodiak at 9:57 a. m., PST on a navigation flight over the Bering sea and has not been heard from since.

A long-range Navy patrol-bomber with a crew of some nine men aboard, was missing after taking part yesterday in a joint air force-navy-army simulated attack on Puget Sound. It became separated during a mock attack on carriers off the Washington coast. It was last heard from by its Whidby Island air base at 7 a. m. when its reported position was near Vancouver Island, B. C.

Enraged Man Kills Alleged Child Raper

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Nicholas A. Antico, 37, walked into Sharpsburg police station today and shot a prisoner who allegedly assaulted his five-year-old daughter.

William Moore, 75, of Sharpsburg, died enroute to St. Francis hospital from two bullet wounds in the chest.

Patrolman Robert Santilli was when Antico entered. He said Antico identified himself and then asked: "Is the man here." Santilli answered, "yes."

Before Santilli could convene, Antico ran back to Moore's cell and fired twice through the bars with a revolver. Santilli said he disarmed Antica and locked him in a cell. Then he called a radio car which took Moore to the hospital.

Hits At Russia's Charges

Dulles Raps Vishinsky

PARIS — (AP) — The United States told Russia today Americans have stopped disarming and intend to be strong, for the benefit of both themselves and their friends.

U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles spoke in the United Nations political committee in debate on charges that Russia's eastern European allies are violating the Greek border.

Dulles termed "vicious falsehoods" Russia's charges the United States plan aggression. But he added the United States "intends to be strong because our strength is not for ourselves alone."

The Republican party's top foreign policy expert lashed at Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, saying the Russian spoke insultingly of the U. N. Special Commission on the Balkans (UNSCOB), which reported on the Greek civil war. Vishinsky had labelled "garbage" the report in which UNSCOB branded Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria as violators.

Now, Dulles said, a new fear grips the free people of the world.

"That is in part because the Security Council's power to decide is crippled by veto and its power to act is crippled by lack of military contingents," Dulles said. "It is in part because the threat is deviously contrived."

The United States makes no apology for halting disarmament or increasing its strength, he said, nor does the United States pretend it is not serving its own self-interest.

"Our growing national strength no doubt displeases some, but it does not, I believe, frighten any," the delegate continued. "I ask each delegate to search his own mind and come to his own conclusion as to who and what his nation fears.

I shall be satisfied with a silent verdict, for I know that some fear even to express their fear."

Crash Hurts Two Cyclists

Riders Tip After Hitting Automobile

Two motorcyclists, one of them an East Second street youth, were seriously injured last night when their cycle collided with a car on Lexington avenue near the entrance to the TB sanatorium.

The injured, Stanley Frazier, 23, of 312 East Second street, and Chancey N. Nowlin, 22, of Apple Grove, W. Va., suffered multiple fractures of their left legs when they were dragged 75 feet by their motorcicle after striking the car. Both were reported in "fair" condition at General hospital today.

Police said the car was driven by Howard L. Mishey, Mansfield, R. D. 6.

Frazier told police he was traveling north on Lexington avenue when he reached down to adjust the carburetor on his cycle.

As he did this, Frazier explained, the cycle swerved across the yellow line and collided with the car.

Police said the accident occurred at approximately 9:30 p. m.

Mass Quitting Deemed Strike

WASHINGTON—(UP)—A trial examiner for the National Labor Relations board ruled today that when all but one of 115 workers quit within 36 hours, it's a strike —no matter what the union calls it.

Trial Examiner Arthur Leff held that "the very fact of such mass quitting alone supplies persuasive evidence . . . to support an inference that the cessation of work was the outcome of strike or concerted action aimed at a common objective."

It was the first Taft-Hartley act decision that a strike can be a strike even though the union or the employes involved say it isn't.

PAYS ELECTION BET—William F. Holliger (above) Republican precinct captain in Tuesday's election pays off bet at Louisville, Ky., by jumping into Ohio river. He jumped into nine feet of water from Coast Guard launch to amusement of several spectators. Holliger, 23, swam out within a few moments.

Sportsmen Get 176 Acres

Outdoor Group Buys Conservation Farm

By MALCOLM HARTLEY

Purchase for $14,500 of a 176-acre conservation farm by the Richland County Fish and Game association was authorized last night by members of the organization at a meeting at North Lake park pavilion.

The action, taken on recommendation of association officers and members of a committee which had been selected to inspect the property, brought the organization to a goal at which it has been aiming for years.

The farm, known as the S. W. Barr farm, is on the Shelby road near Springmill, about four miles northwest of Mansfield.

Ralph Peat, Gus Miller and Lowell Hamilton, members of the committee appointed by James F. Burkhart, association president, to work out purchase details, described the acreage as ideally suited for conservation purposes.

Peat, in his report to the members, declared there are spots for a fish breeding pond, for a small lake, and the terrain and cover suited for propagation of game. All committee members reported the property is the best of several which have been checked in past years.

The farm contains a seven-room house, which will be used as a club house and meeting place, Burkhart explained. There also is a large barn. Tillable land will be used, possibly on a crop-sharing basis, to aid in defraying expenses, he stated.

FINANCE PLAN SET UP

Following the committee's investigation, the association's board of trustees directed Albert Benson and Fred Frankeberger to work out a method of financing the purchase. Their arrangement, approved last night, calls for a bank loan of $9,000. The remainder of the purchase price will be paid in cash by the association.

Association officers expressed confidence that the organization's income will meet the required monthly payments. Burkhart declared that some curtailment of other activities might be necessary.

Principal source of the association's income is from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses. Nearly all dealers who sell licenses return the fee of 25 cents on hunting licenses and 10 cents on fishing licenses to the association.

The establishment of a conservation farm, although new to Richland county, is not a new idea in the state. A number of other counties have had such farms for years. Nearby Ashland county as a farm.

Primary purpose of such farms is the propagation of game and fish. The farms also provide a spot for outings and recreation, and usually serve as the meeting places and centers of activity of the fish and game associations.

Rain to Greet Grid Fans

Football fans planning to attend the Mansfield-Marion Harding football game tonight at Arlin field are advised to take a look at the sky before starting out. Plans should include raincoats and umbrellas if the predictions of the weatherman are right.

The official forecast was for a continuation of mild temperatures with showers and thunderstorms today and tomorrow. Cooler weather was forecast for tonight and Saturday.

Temperatures continued to climb to high marks for autumn throughout the state with the high for Mansfield yesterday at 66. The temperature stood at 66 at 10:30 today. It had climbed from a low of 54 at 4 a. m.

The five-day official Ohio forecast said: "Rain in the east portion Saturday and a few showers Sunday. Colder Saturday and warmer Tuesday."

MINERS WALK OUT

MARTINS FERRY —(UP)— All operations were halted and 550 employes idled today by a walkout at the Dunglen mine of the Hanna Coal company near here.

Prepare For Evacuation

Women, Children Leaving East China

NANKING, —(INS)— The U.S. Embassy today urged Americans to prepare to leave east central China because of the danger of Southward advances by Chinese communist armies.

Simultaneously, steps were taken to evacuate approximately 1,000 American women and children who are dependents of U.S. Service personnel in China.

All Americans in the Nanking-Pukow and adjacent areas of the middle Yangtze valley were circularized by the U.S. Embassy in Nanking with a letter that stated:

"Military developments in north China make it appear possible that hostilities may spread farther south, with the result that transportation facilities between Nanking and its environs and the sea may be disrupted.

"Also, with the approach of winter and an increasingly acute shortage of food supplies and fuel, those remaining in Nanking and its environs may be subjected to undue hardships.

"Accordingly, it is suggested that unless you have a compelling reason to remain you consider the desirability of evacuation while normal transportation facilities remain available."

In London, Reuters reported from Shanghai an announcement of Chinese government sources that their forces have completely evacuated from the Manchurian port of Yingkow.

Chinese press reports said meanwhile that evacuation of Hulutao, last remaining escape port from Manchuria, also has begun.

Schact Will Again Go Before Court

STUTTGART, Germany —(AP)— A German official today said Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's minister of economics will have to stand trial again before a denazification court. Hans Kuraski, denazification chief of Wuerttemberg-Baden, told newsmen the appeal court's decision acquitting Schacht of a previous denazification conviction will be set aside.

O. O. McIntyre, Charles L. Knight Honored

Add Two Journalists to Hall of Fame

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The names of the late Oscar Odd McIntyre, the small town reporter who became the country's most widely syndicated columnist, and Charles L. Knight, late publisher of the Akron Beacon Journal, will be added to Ohio's Journalism Hall of Fame tonight.

The names of the two Ohio journalists will be added to the names of 41 other oustanding newspapermen at a dinner at Ohio State university. The Hall of Fame is sponsored by the Ohio State's school of journalism.

Guests at the dinner will include Mrs. Mabel Small McIntyre, the columnist's widow, and John S. Knight, son of Charles S. Knight and present publisher of the Beacon Journal, the Chicago Daily News and other newspapers.

Harold Wetherholt, publisher of the Gallipolis (O.) Tribune, will sponsor McIntyre's name and former Ohio Governor James M. Cox, publisher of the Dayton Daily News, will sponsor Knight's name.

McIntyre and Knight were singled out for the honor in a vote of the state's newpaper publishers and editors started last year.

In his adopted home of Gallipolis, O., where the columnist grew up and started his newspaper career, McIntyre is still regarded as a hero. It was in Gallipolis that McIntyre had bought a "dream house" to which he had planned eventually to take his pretty wife and his beloved dogs. He bought the house in 1933. He did not return to Gallipolis until his body was returned for burial in Mound Hill cemetery.

McIntyre began his newspaper career by gathering "personals" for the Gallipolis Journal. From Gallipolis McIntyre went to newspaper jobs in East Liverpool, Dayton, and Cincinnati, O. It was on the Cincinnati Post that he met Ray Long, then city editor, who later became one of the most successful magazine editors of his day.

It was in 1912 that McIntyre, better known by his thousands of readers as just "O. O. M.," began writing and giving away his New York letter that was to become one of the greatest columns in the history of journalism, "New York Day By Day."

See Ickes Return To Cabinet

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The name of Harold L. Ickes, the "old curmudgeon" of the New Deal, cropped up today in widespread rumors of impending cabinet appointments.

It is all strictly speculation, but some people in high places are whispering that they won't be surprised if President Truman invites back into his official family that master of invective who coined the phrase: "Thomas Elusive Dewey—the candidate of sneakers."

Mr. Truman, returning triumphantly to Washington, hasn't said a word about it, but the rumor mills are working overtime about possible shakeups.

A favorite topic of conversation for weeks has been the degree of campaign activity on the part of various cabinet members — with the exception of Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Defense Forrestal.

Those two, because of the bipartisanship foreign policy and the strained international situation, never had been expected to do any plugging for Mr. Truman.

As for Ickes:

He quit the cabinet in a huff two years ago when he had an argument with the President over the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be assistant secretary of the Navy. Ickes said no oil man ever should have the Navy post, because of the Navy's oil reserves. But when Mr. Truman brushed aside his protest and said Ickes could be wrong about the things he had said about Pauley, Ickes stalked out.

But in the midst of the storm of election campaigning, Ickes climbed back aboard what appeared to be the sinking New Deal ship. He called on Mr. Truman, patched things up and opened up a barrage of stinging words aimed at Dewey.

Reports have it that when Ickes appeared at the White House, Mr. Truman told him: "Harold, I never quit you; you quit me; you must never quit me again."

That's why there is so much unofficial talk about a possibility that "Honest Harold" may be recalled from the writings of newspaper columns and of his memoirs —"My 12 Years With FDR."

Egyptians Escape Trap

TEL AVIV, Israel — (AP) — Egyptian troops escaped during the night from the coastal pocket at Majdal where they had been trapped during last month's Israeli advance in the Negev, an official Jewish spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the Egyptians withdrew to the main Egyptian base in Palestine at Gaza under cover of heavy artillery fire against Jewish positions ringing Majdal.

The Egyptians pulled out along the beach, getting "their feet wet," the spokesman said. He said they were not fired upon by Israeli forces although the waterfront is under the muzzles of Jewish guns.

He announced also that jewish troops followed up the Egyptian withdrawal by moving into the whole Majdal area this morning. The city is in the coastal area of southern Palestine which was given to the Arabs under the partition plan.

In Paris the United Nations Security Council last night asked Israel to give up recent gains in the Negev desert of southern Palestine.

At a night meeting the council voted in favor of an American-amended resolution calling on Israel to withdraw to positions held before last month's offensive against the Egyptians.

Escaper Enjoys Brief Freedom

CINCINNATI —(INS)— Hamilton county police worked fast early today in the recapture of a London prison farm escapee. Within an hour and 15 minutes after he bolted from the farm police had 29-year-old Clarence Knise of Cincinnati back under lock and key.

Thousands Mass At Station

Top Executive Returns to Work

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman returned to Washington today and a tumultuous welcome home from cheering thousands.

The President's train from Independence, Mo., pulled in at 10:55 a. m. (EST).

A cheer went up from the crowd surging around the station.

"We want Truman," they chanted.

When the train stopped, Sen. Alben Barkley, the next vice president, clambered aboard.

Mr. Truman beaming proudly, came out on the platform and greeted his running mate.

Members of the cabinet and other dignitaries hastily scrambled aboard. Some were accompanied by their wives. The hand shaking and congratulations went on for more than 10 minutes, while the crowd yelled and the metropolitan police band blared away lustily.

Also waiting at the platform were President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, and Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

The city of Washington, fairly blase by reputation, worked up something like a hero's welcome for its first citizen—the guy whose smile won't come off—the country boy who finds the White House lawn fine for pitching horse shoes.

Senator Barkley flew in from Kentucky last night to join in the ceremony.

After the welcome at the station came a parade to the White House and a "thank you" speech from the north portico—the first from that spot since VJ-day.

And then—back to work for Mr. Truman. He had an appointment with budget director James E. Webb. Topic: What can be done about that prospective $1,500,000,000 deficit next June 30?

A message will arrive from Chairman Edwin G. Nourse of the president's council of economic advisers. Topic: What can be done about prices, inflation, federal spending?

PLANS VACATION

And more problems. Mr. Truman plans to pack them up with his fishing clothes and start Sunday morning for a two-week rest at Key West, Fla.

But jubilant officials and legislators—suddenly handed a new lease on office by the voters, instead of the eviction notice that many frankly expected—were busy roughing out ideas for Mr. Truman to toss at the Democratic Congress.

These are some of the "first things" they said they think Congress should take up:

1. Writing of a new labor law to replace the Taft-Hartley act. Secretary of Labor Tobin, in Boston, declared it should be "fair to both workers and management."

2. Creation of a new department of health, education and security. There's no spokesman in the cabinet, said Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing, for "just Joe America, his wife, and their children."

3. An "adequate" housing bill embracing public housing and slum clearance. Senator Ellender (D-La) predicted the new Democratic Congress will consider it promptly and favorably.

4. An "attempt" to control prices. This was predicted by Rep. Spence (D-Ky), who will regain his house banking committee chairmanship. But Senator Connally (D-Tex) said at Brownsville he expects no revival of wartime price ceilings; perhaps some curbs on particular lines of industry will be approved.

5. National health insurance, broader and bigger social security benefits, federal help for education. All will stand a better chance now, Ewing told reporters.

New Tank Honors Gen. Geo. Patton

WASHINGTON — (UP)— The army will unveil on Nov. 11 a new medium tank named in honor of the late Gen. George Patton. The army said the tank, to be displayed at ceremonies at the Detroit arsenal, has almost twice the speed of the World War II model and far greater maneuverability.

Ohio State Bucks Clash With Pitt Saturday

Fesler Cuts Drill Time Of His Club

COLUMBUS — Ohio State university and the Pittsburgh Panthers plan separate light workouts this afternoon in preparation for their grid game here tomorrow.

The Panthers, who beat Ohio State 12 to 0 last year after the Buckeye university had raided their coach, Wesley Fesler, from them, are due in town at 1:40 p.m.

Fesler cut yesterday's drill from two hours to one and explained that his Buckeyes were "very tired" from the whipping they took at the hands of Northwestern at Evanston, Ill., last Saturday.

He said the extra rest would do them more good than the practice even though he expects Pitt to be tough.

THE INJURY LIST

Fesler said all could play against Pitt if necessary but that Dorsey probably would be taken out of the first string lineup for the first time this year because he has been ill this week.

Sonny Gandee of Berea will replace him, he said.

While on the field yesterday, Fesler drilled the Scarlet and Gray on pass defense and low tackling.

The practice was designed to stop a Pitt aerial attack that has netted the Panthers an average of 134 yards per game for the six contests.

On the tackling front, a low string was stretched in front of the tackling dummies and the Buckeyes were told to "get under it" before they made their kills.

OHIO STATERS—Here's some of Ohio State's backfield and line power. Krall is possibly the Bucks' best running back while Perini shines as a punter. Templeton, the captain and a guard, is a former Mansfield Senior high school star.

Jake Powell, Ex-Yank Star, Kills Self

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The stormy career of Alvin "Jake" Powell, former Washington and New York outfielder, was at an end today, terminated by two self-inflicted bullets into his chest and right temple.

The 38-year-old Powell took his life while being questioned on a bad check charge in Washington detective headquarters as he sat beside a woman who said she expected to be his bride.

Powell's companion at the time of the shooting late yesterday was Josephine Amber, 34-year-old Austrian-born blonde, who said she and Powell had planned to wed.

NOT DIVORCED

The ball player's wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Powell, who lives in a Washington suburb, said that she and the former big league ball player had not planned to be divorced and had not been separated.

Grief-stricken by her husband's death, she said she had not seen him for some months, but had heard from him from time to time and did not consider that they were separated.

Powell, a native of Washington, formerly starred as an outfielder with the Washington Senators and later with the New York Yankees before his retirement from baseball several years ago.

HAD WILD CAREER

He led a stormy career and was a temperamental performer.

When confronted with the check charge, Powell said "to hell with it—I'm going to end it all." Before the detectives could make a move, he whipped out a .25 caliber pistol and squeezed the trigger twice.

Joe Diemer Gets Trophy At Johnny Appleseed Fete

Joe Diemer, captain and left end of Johnny Appleseed junior high school's undefeated football team, was named the most valuable player at a banquet held last night at the school.

Diemer was lauded by Coach Jimmy Lymper and presented with a trophy by Homecoming Queen Pat Daugherty. The trophy had been bought for him by the queen, her attendants and cheerleaders.

A crowd of approximately 125 parents, teachers, coaches, and sportswriters turned out to honor the football team and see movies of the Appleseed-Simpson and the Dayton Kiser-Mansfield games.

Ray Mack, former Cleveland Indians' second baseman, who was scheduled to make the principal address, was unable to appear but Toastmaster Bill Daugherty promised that Mack would come to the city in the near future to speak at a Tyger booster meeting.

CONGRATULATES PLAYERS

Senior high Coach Augie Morningstar congratulated the Appleseed players on their undefeated season and related several stories about the Tygers Lymper awarded letters to 24 members of the Appleseed squad and reviewed the season.

News-Journal Sports Editor Fred Tharp presented Appleseed Principal George Harmony with the city championship trophy on behalf of the Tyger booster club. Lymper and Assistant Coach Fred LaRue were presented with a set of golf clubs and a traveling bag by the players.

Players receiving letter awards were: Ends Jack Allen, Steve Henkel and Diemer, Centers Ned Diemer and Tom Brittain, Guards Bud Chamberlain, Bob Diemer, Richard Esbenshade, Clarence Gouge, and Tim Gerberich, Tackles John Perry, Tom Goodhart, Norm Yarger, John Hill and Robert Stauffer, Backs Freddie Zahn, Bud Montgomery, Johnny Auer, Bill Huber, Chuck Mertler, Arlen Bonecutter, Darce Shasky, Ronnie Ackerman and Neil Roller, and Managers Bob Heston, John Robbins and Ken Haring.

Six Grid Squads On Bowl Roster

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Jim Carney, director of the Knights of Columbus Great Lakes bowl game, announced today that six teams are being considered for the annual contest at the Cleveland stadium Dec. 4.

The Ohio schools include John Carroll, Baldwin-Wallace, Dayton and Miami. Pittsburgh and Michigan State are the out of state contenders.

Final selection of the two teams to participate in the tilt will be made early next week.

Freese Rolls 638 In Commercial 'B'

For the second straight week, Commercial "B" league bowlers rivalled their "A" league counterparts with an even half-dozen 600 games. Horace Freese led the attack on the 600 club, while Glen Yingling, Jess Willard, Darrell McCullough, Joe DeYarmon, and Ed Burger also joined up.

Freese put together a fine 638 series on games of 179, 245, and 214, to pace Dearman's Transportation to a two-out-of-three victory and a 1002 third game. McCullough, Dearman's, who had 173 and 194 opening games, contributed a 246 to the finale for a 613. Harold Biles, although having only a 523 series, chimed in with a 205 third game for Dearman's.

Among the other honor roll members, Willard, Zitzer's, had 234-177-203—614, Yingling, Oak Park Tavern, 193-256-174—623, DeYarmon, Rose Bowl, posted 177-204-221—602, and Burger, Ringside, a consistent 199-202-199—600. Yingling's second game of 256 was the best single effort of the night.

Just missing the charmed circle were Bob Hilborn, Yuncker, who had 588, and Frank Burton, Mansfield Rug, 587. Others were well down the list.

Oak Park Tavern paced the teams with 881-974-967—2,822. Dearman's had 2,790.

★

Bill Gordon paced the Tappan Stove league with a 216-214-155—585, while Paul Wolf scored 171-240-172—583. In third place was G. Rodey, 575, followed by Ed Rogers, 545, and Virgil Shaffer, 544.

Betty Miller of Tappan 3 held both single game and series honors in the Women's Industrial league with a 130-188-153—471 score. Angie Arnold was runnerup with 145-141-159—445 followed by Florence Nelson's 430 and Dorothy McCartney's 425.

Dominion Electric, the high-flying league leader, was handed its second defeat of the season by Tappan 1 but took the other two games to build its lead to five games.

★

The Buckeye Storage team of the Amvets league will roll a three-game match with Miller's High Life of the Richland A league at 3 p. m. Sunday at Richland.

Arlene Peters hit the upper strata of the Women's Commercial "A" loop pin-blasters with a sparkling 564. Rolling in the leadoff position for the PD's Bar quintet, Arlene got off with a fine 226 but faded to 157 and 181. Second spot went to Hazel Hilborn, Outlet Furs, 161-235-159—555.

Others in the individual spotlight were: Ann Sauer, Ohio Sport Center, 174-167-169—510; Helen Kemle, PD's Bar, 163-159-188—510; Donna Schuster, Ohio Sport Center, 176-179-148—503; Kate Warga, PD's Bar, 182-161-158—501 and Lena Aston, Safety Cab, 171-160-169—500.

Sport Center retained its league lead by dropping The Elms three straight games. Outlet Furs lost one of three to City News, to fall out of undisputed possession of second place. PD's and "36" Bar swept their series to tie for the No. 2 position.

Outlet had the high single game of 872 and PD's led the three-game scoring with 823-783-809—2,415.

★

Leadership in the Amvets league at the Richland went to John Meyers, Art Litho Print, with 198-186-165—549 and Jack Maurer, Buckeye Storage, with 193-165-197—555. John Carew, of Buckeye, had 146-160-212—518 and Frank Schneider, Purdy Construction, chipped in with a 492.

Buckeye kept its loop margin by defeating Art Litho, 2 to 1.

★

Hilda Schieber, Kallmerten & Baer, was tops in the Amvet Auxiliary loop with 133-157-122—412. Margie Mackto, Hughes Hardware, had a 362 and Pollyanna Boone, Drive-in-ette, had 359.

★

Rolling for Kay's Shoppe, Billie Cleckner led the Richland Ladies' league with a 161-146-190—497. Her teammate Ruth Southworth had 163-152-145—460 and W. Conrad, Mansfield Lumber, had 143-173-133—449.

Honor Bill Veeck

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Bill Veeck, president of the world champion Cleveland Indians, was honored at a banquet last night in Cleveland by the Cleveland Baseball federation for his generous contribution to sandlot baseball.

Loudonville 11 Plays Host To Millersburg

LOUDONVILLE— Loudonville's once-beaten Red Birds will be host to Millersburg tonight in a game that is a deciding factor in the Mohican football league race.

Here's the situation:

Loudonville has yet to lose a league game, having won its only two starts. Millersburg has been beaten once, by Bellville which has won three games. Bellville and Londonville are scheduled next week.

Therefore, a victory for Loudonville tonight eliminates Millersburg from the title chase, and puts the championship squarely up to next week's Loudonville-Bellville game.

A Millersburg win might cause the season to end in a three way tie should Loudonville be able to upset Bellville.

Bellville, of course, can throw all the speculation out the window merely by beating the Red Birds.

Loudonville has won six of seven all told.

THANK YOU

I wish to thank my many friends of Mansfield and Richland County for their fine support given me at the Election Tuesday, Nov. 2.

New Disease Hits Cattle

Malady Found In 26 States

CHICAGO—(AP)—A puzzling disease is sweeping into the younger beef cattle population of the country, and so far has been recognized in 26 states

Veterinarians don't quite know what to make of it They're sure it has no connection with the dread foot-and-mouth disease south of the Mexican border, and they are fairly certain it cannot be transmitted to man

But the stuff was so puzzling at first, it was designated only as "X" cattle disease Since there are other "X" diseases in other kinds of livestock, this one finally was named Hyperkeratosis

R. C. Klussendorf, of the American Veterinary Medical association, says this means "thickening of the skin." Forty per cent of the infected cattle—particularly calves and yearlings—die. Half the remainder are in such bad shape they can only be sent to a rendering plant, Klussendorf added.

He said the disease first was reported two years ago in New York and New England. Usually whole herds are not affected but some beef herds reportedly have been so severely hit that owners were forced out of business.

Robinson-Belloise Non-Title Fight May Be Shifted

NEW YORK —(CP)— The non-title fight between welterweight champion Ray Robinson and veteran Steve Belloise may be switched from Jersey City to Cleveland, George Kletz, president of the tournmaent of champions, announced today.

The bout has been listed for Jersey City, Dec. 2. The proposed date for Cleveland is Dec. 24.

The fight will be staged by the new combine — T.O.C., Columbia Broadcasting company, Music Corporation of America, and Allied Syndicates, Inc. If held in Cleveland, it is expected to be televised to New York and Chicago stations.

Youngster Wins

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Jimmy Welch, 156, Columbus, beat Eddie Miller, 160, Dayton, in a ten-round fight last night. The 18-year-old winner had Miller on the floor for a count of seven when the final bell rang.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

British Get Ninth Nobel Physics Prize

American-Born Poet Honored

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—(AP)—The Nobel prize in physics went to Britain for the ninth time yesterday as Nuclear Physicist Patrick M. S. Blackett was voted the annual award.

The 1948 prize in literature was voted to T. S. Eliot, 60, American-born British poet.

The awards, worth about $44,000 each this year, were voted by the Swedish Academy of Literature and the Swedish Academy of Science respectively. Formal presentation will be made Dec. 10 at the Nobel prize ceremony here.

The prizes were provided by the will of Alfred B. Nobel, Swedish scientist and industrialist who died in 1896. The 1948 prize in medicine was voted last week to Dr. Paul Mueller of Switzerland. The chemistry prize and the peace prize have not yet been voted.

The citation of the Academy of Science said Blackett qualifed for this year's physics prize by his development of the Wilson method and discoveries in nuclear physics about cosmic radiation.

Last year's physics prize also went to a British scientist, Sir Edward Appleton, who won the award for his exploration of the ionosphere.

Eliot was born in St. Louis, Mo., but carved out his literary career in England and became a British subject in 1927.

His first work, a collection of poems titled "Prufrock and Other Observations," was published in 1917. In 1922 he expressed the prevailing post-war pessimism in a poetic cycle, "The Waste Land."

He founded the British literary magazine "Criterion" and was its editor from 1923 to 1939.

His works include the versified plays, "The Rock," "Murder in The Cathedral" and "The Family Reunion;" and the collection of poems "The Hollow Men," "Ash Wednesday" and "Four Quartets."

SUCCESS STORY

CATRON, Mo.—(UP)—Thirty years ago Paul B. Croughters came to southeast Missouri as a farm laborer. He has just bought 6,000 acres of highly-developed farm land. The purchase includes two-thirds of the town of Catron.

A DUGOUT was home for these Jews in Palestine's Negev while that area was cut off from the rest of Israel by Egyptian troops. Israeli forces now have restored their communications lines into the Negev. (International).

Cooperative To Elect

The Northcentral Egg and Poultry Cooperative will elect directors at its annual meeting next Wednesday in the New Washington high school auditorium. Nominations were made at a meeting Sept. 21.

The cooperative is made up of poultry raisers from 14 counties in the northcentral part of Ohio. It serves primarily as a sales outlet for eggs.

George Areheart, of Lucas, is one of the candidates for the board of directors. M. A. Winbigler, of Shelby, is at present one of the cooperative's directors. He has served as vice-president of the group for the past year.

All the farmers who ship eggs through the cooperative are asked to attend the meeting which will begin at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

Flying In and Out of Mansfield

Flying Hunters Find Birds Scarce

Three Greenwich business men who flew to Minnesota to hunt pheasants are back with the bag limit, but they said the birds are scarce in the northern state.

The hunters are L. W. Bender of the Bender Furniture company and Ray Baumgarn and Vince Bucknam, publishers of the Greenwich Enterprise - Review. Their pilot on the trip in a Seabee was Don VanGeem of Mansfield.

Richard Barnes flew a Luscombe on his private pilot solo cross-country to Akron-Canton airport and Columbus and return.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart M. Weaver flew to Ann Arbor, Mich., where their daughter is a student at University of Michigan, to attend the Michigan - Illinois football game.

Instructor Wilbur H. Shafer flew the Swift to Jackson, Mich., to pick up E. J. Mahoney, president of the Mahoney Contracting company, and returned to Mansfield. The next day, Mahoney returned to Jackson via the Swift.

Instructor Dale Ropp jr., flew G. M. O'Brien and G. H. Mellinger of Westinghouse on a business trip to Manitowoc, Wis. They were weathered in overnight due to the extremely hazy and smoky conditions around the Chicago area. They decided against returning at night and returned the next day. The trip was made in a Navion.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Rupp flew to Cleveland on a business trip last week.

Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Harnly viewed the Ohio autumn colors on a recent aerial trip from northern to southern Ohio and return to Mansfield.

Donald H. McKim received his private pilot rating and Ken Heisler his multi-engine land rating from CAA Examiner Clayton Tschantz. Kenneth Heisler is the owner and operator of the Willard Airport and Willard Flying Service.

The following commercial pilot students took their CAA tests in Navigation, Airplanes and Engines: Wayne Bedson, Thomas Letizia and Charles Robertson. Thomas Cripe, of Richland Aviation, Inc., took his A and E test on carburetors and magnetos.

TOO MUCH NATURE

CARLSBAD, N. M.—(UP)—The lawn around the county courthouse is an attractive spot, but it has lost its popularity with Carlsbad residents recently. A bench-sitter got a scare when he saw a rattlesnake, on the grass. Police killed the snake, but a short while later they were called again to rescue another bench-sitter who had been attacked by a swarm of bees.

It is with sincere regret that we announce the resignation of our manager, Mr. Clarence C. Luft.

We wish to announce the appointment of Richard C. Vercoe as our resident manager.

Geologist Proposes New Canal

Would Tunnel Through Mexico

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(UP)—A new canal, tunneling through Mexican mountains to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, has been proposed by a veteran professor of geology.

The scientist behind the plan, Prof. Emeritus William H. Hobbs of the University of Michigan geology department, says his canal would have three major advantages over the Panama Canal.

One, it would reduce the distance between ports on the east and west coasts of the United States by some 3,000 miles.

Two, there would be no vulnerable locks to be smashed by enemy bombs, and half of its 126 miles would be covered by impenetrable layers of solid rock.

Three, double lanes on the open part and "sidings" in the tunnels would provide two-way traffic.

CONGRESS WILL CONSIDER

Hobbs, a spry, white-bearded scholar at the age of 84, says the plan will be taken under consideration by a committee of the 81st Congress. He is more enthusiastic about it than any of the other 200 subjects on which he has written books and studies. He says it would be the first ocean ship tunnel in the world.

"The Panama Canal, even converted from a lock canal to a sealevel canal, would be insecure under attack and studies have indicated that once blocked it would require weeks to reopen," Hobbs says.

According to his plans, the tunnel across the Tehuantepec Peninsula in south-central Mexico can be complete with less time and money than it would take to level the Panama.

Briefly, Hobbs' canal would run from Puerto Mexico on the Atlantic coast to the Tehuantepec lagoon directly south on the Pacific.

WIDER THAN PANAMA

That is a distance of 126 miles. A quarter of the way on each end is across level coastal plains. The remaining 63 miles would burrow through the central range of mountains across Mexico's "wasp waist."

Large constructional and ventilation shafts would chop the tunnel into eight small tunnels, the longest one 14 miles. The "ship subway" would be 185 feet wide—75 feet more than the Panama Canal—and 185 feet high at the center peak of its sloping ceiling.

"Anything except some of the ships with extensive radar-radio masts would get through that," Hobbs says. "The top parts of the masts could be reassembled on the other side with the money saved in fuel.

"And the width would be satisfactory. The trend is toward long, narrow ships rather than wide ones."

Man Dies, Wills Party For Friends

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Whether or not the will of Fred Owens will be used to give "a party for my friends" will be decided next week in Cleveland by Probate Judge Nelson J. Brewer.

The party was the last wish of Owens as he expressed it Oct 3, while writing his will in the office of his east side trucking business.

Owens, however, failed to have the will witnessed and it was rejected in court yesterday.

Louis A. Perry, attorney for the deceased, said that to pay for the party, Owens directed that all money in his bank account, which contains about $350, be spent.

Modern Carrie Nation Says Life Has Been Threatened

MOLINE, ILL.—(UP)—Marie Van Muelebrock, modern carrie Nation who had 11 tavern owners arrested last week in her anti-slot machine campaign, said yesterday she had been warned of a threat on her life.

Miss Van Muelebrock, 26, said an unidentified youth came to her home and told her of a plan "to bump you and your mother off or railroad you out of town unless you stop your anti-gambling activities."

She also reported three anonymous phone calls, suggesting that she and her mother abandon their fight to rid Rock county of slot machines.

"We started this thing, and we'll see it through," Mrs Van Muelebrock said. "We won't be intimidated and we still want a pet shelter."

The two women declared war on the tavern owners because the city refused to build a community animal shelter. Miss Van Muelebrock said that if there was no money to build a shelter, then there should be no money for gambling.

Berliner's Social Life Will Be Based On Available Heat

BERLIN—(UP)—Social life in blockaded Berlin this winter will revolve around unused restaurants, barracks, refugee camps and air raid shelters. There Berliners will find reading material, cultural programs, sewing classes and entertainment.

They will also find warmth. To accommodate Germans fleeing their cold homes, around 300 "warming centers" will be opened as soon as winter arrives. These buildings where people may go to keep warm, were set up in the severe winters of two years ago to combat the cold that German health officials estimated took more than 250 lives in Berlin.

Because of the Soviet blockade, Berliners, as well as Allied residents of the city, will not receive as much coal as they did last winter.

"Berliners will not freeze to death," said Wilmer Froistad, chief of the American public welfare branch in Berlin military government. "They will just freeze."

The exact amount of coal and wood Berliners will receive this winter has not yet been set, but Froistad expressed the opinion that the coal ration would be from 30 to 50 per cent less than last year. To offset this cut, Froistad, a former Red Cross official in California and the state of Washington, said that the centers would not only be increased but would open earlier than last year. He called the centers "social centers in a half frozen city . . . islands of warmth surrounded by cold.

The only hitch in the plan to re-establish the warming centers is the electricity shortage. Because Russia has cut off power to western sectors, Germans in western Berlin get only four hours of electricity daily—two hours in the day and two at night.

Unless special power allotments are given the centers, they will have to close down at nightfall when the need for them might be greatest, Froistad said.

He said that in addition to heat the centers would provide books and magazines, games for children, occasional entertainment and cultural programs in an effort to make them real community centers.

Worker Killed By Electricity

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Forty-thousand volts of electricity killed Donald B. Duval, 23, of Lockbourne, yesterday when he touched the "hot" side of a switch while repairing an oil circuit breaker at the Pickway plant of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric company. Power was shut off for an hour to parts of Columbus, Circleville, Chillicothe, Hillsboro, and Jackson.

2 Mill Levy Wins After Vote Recount

PORTSMOUTH —(AP)— A two-mill levy which drew more votes than the presidential contest was approved by Portsmouth voters by a margin of 46, the official count showed. The unofficial count showed it falling short of the needed 60 percent majority, and the board of elections qu[illegible] advantage of a new law allowing the recheck without request. The levy is needed to raise $108,000 a year for two years.

Third Berlin Airfield Set

BERLIN— (UP) —Western Berlin's third airfield, built literally by hand by 15,000 Berliners, will be dedicated tomorrow for use in the Berlin airlift.

One of the airlift planes will land at Tegel airfield in the French sector of Berlin as a "token demonstration" of the many craft expected when the field becomes operational in mid-December.

It was built by western Berliners, half of them women, working with shovels, brooms and even their bare hands to help defeat the Soviet blockade. Because of the Soviet land blockade, only 20 bulldozers, two rock crushers, 10 rollers, two asphalt sprayers, six road graders and four scrapers were available for use at the field.

Capital Job Filling Now Dems' Task

Patronage Plums Given to Party

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The widely-predicted "housecleaning" in Washington will take place on schedule but the Democrats will be wielding the brooms.

Some 1,500 employes on Capitol Hill face the prospect of losing their jobs when the Democrats take over the House and Senate.

The patronage jobs such as doormen, elevator operators and page boys will be turned over to the Democrats for distribution. Administrative assistants, secretaries and clerks of defeated congressmen will be job-hunting in January.

The newly-elected legislators will pick their own aides—and most of them will be Democrats.

With Democrats taking over the chairmanship of all congressional committees, there will be numerous shake-ups in the committee staffs. Clerks and stenographers are likely to be hardest hit. Investigators, economists and other so-called professional workers on the staffs were supposed to have been chosen on a non-partisan career basis.

Some of them, however, aroused the ire of Democrats in Congress by sniping at federal agencies, and some changes are expected.

One of the happiest men in Washington is James M. Boyd, director-without-pay of the Bureau of Mines.

Now that the Democrats have control of Congress and the White House both, Boyd said he is pretty sure he'll start collecting his $10,000-a-year salary. He hasn't been paid for 11 months. The Republican Senate refused to confirm his appointment which was opposed by Mine Chief John L. Lewis.

The Democratic triumph came as a disappointment to Washington real estate brokers. They had looked forward to a boom in business, selling houses for ousted Democrats and lining them up for incoming Republicans.

Democratic national headquarters here cleared up a report that Chairman J. Howard McGrath had put his home on the market a month ago because he felt the party was licked.

"The chairman is selling his home, all right," a spokesman explained. "But it's only because he wants to move into a larger one."

Ohioan Bid To U. N. Unit

COLUMBUS, O.—(UP)—Murray D. Lincoln, president of the Farm Bureau Insurance companies, has been asked to represent the International Cooperative Alliance at the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization opening in Washington Nov. 15.

Lincoln was one of the United States' delegates to the first UN food conference which led to the creation of the Food and Agriculture organization. The International Cooperative alliance is a permanent consultant of the UN Economic and Social council.

Discussion during the two-week conference will center about methods of raising and distributing enough food to feed the nations of the world.

Fremont Honors Slain Policeman

FREMONT—(AP)—A city offices will close tomorrow in tribute to Patrolman George (Joe) Biggs, 24, first Fremont policeman killed in line of duty. Biggs' funeral will be held here Saturday morning. Biggs, a rookie patrolman, was crushed to death Wednesday between a truck and an automobile carrying two hold-up suspects.

Galion Council Passes Power Franchise Over Mayor's Veto

OPS Given Right To Serve City

Bill Wins Approval At Stormy Session

GALION — City council last night passed the much-disputed power franchise bill over Mayor H. H. Hartmann's veto, granting the Ohio Public Service company the right to supply electric power to the Galion Iron Works and Central Ohio Steel Products company, major industries here.

Galion has its own municipal power plant, and Mayor Hartmann has fought granting a franchise to what he termed a "foreign company." The industries have contended they need more electric power than the Galion plant can supply.

Action was taken last night at a heated session, attended by scores of city residents who overflowed into corridors at the city hall. Council first voted the OPS franchise Oct. 19.

There was one dissenting vote on the motion to pass the franchise ordinance over the veto. Councilman O. E. Neal voting "no."

The mayor said one of his principal reasons for vetoing the franchise ordinance was the fact that it had been made an emergency ordinance and did not allow a referendum vote by the people.

Other opponents of the ordinance have expressed the opinion it should have had an amendment because it gives the power company too much privilege, and it can bring in its poles any place in the city. Others have feared the loss of the Galion power plant by bringing in outside power.

Manufacturers and other groups have contended the city is hampered in its progress because the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant cannot furnish adequate power.

DISTRIBUTE HANDBILLS

Handbills distributed in the city yesterday stated: "You should have the right to vote on this important issue, the Light plant, to decide this important question. A blanket franchise which means finally a foreign corporation occupying your streets serving you —or— your own light plant to serve you—which? Council meets tonight. Be there. It's up to you citizens to decide!"

A letter from the vice president of the Ohio Public Service company, H. J. Grigsby, informed council the power company was prepared to take immediate steps to supply power if the veto was over-ridden.

The OPS would use Big Four and Erie railroad property for placing of poles in the city, it stated, and the company would enter the city from the south on Big Four property with a line to the Central Ohio Steel Products company, and continue the line to the intersection of the two railroads, thence to the Galion Iron Works.

Council also passed another ordinance over the mayor's veto which allows for the vacation of an alley on East Summit street. Councilman Neal voted "no" to the motion.

Reprimand Leads to Columbus Police Chief's Resignation

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Columbus Police Chief Charles M. Berry resigned late yesterday with dramatic suddenness, after he received a reprimand for trying to collect expense money from the city for $40 he spent entertaining friends in New York.

Berry said he handed in the resignation, effective Nov. 15, "because of my own physical condition which has been impaired by recent incidents, and because of unfavorable publicity I have received."

Effective today, Capt. Frank L. Harrison, head of the police traffic bureau, becomes acting chief. Safety Director C. C. Cole appointed him according to law, as the next man on the civil service eligibility list.

Cole's reprimand called Berry "technically guilty in that you misrepresented your expense account," at a New York police chiefs' national convention.

Berry admitted he stayed with friends during the convention, but tried to collect $40 in hotel room expenses. He said he did it "in the honest belief that I could ask the city of Columbus for a nominal sum to reimburse me for what my own lodging or hotel room would have cost me."

Safety Measure Initiated

Test Stations Set Up To Detect Smog

DONORA, Pa.—(UP)—This picturesque town on the Monongahela river became a laboratory today for a scientific study on whether fumes from industrial plants are dangerous to human health and what can be done about them.

The town holds a unique distinction—it is the first American community where death on a wide scale has been attributed to poisonous elements swirling about in a blinding smog. Here, 19 persons died in the short space of about three days.

So, sampling stations—that is stations with delicate instruments—to test the air at all times are being installed, not only here but in other communities in the valley. Medical scientists know the concentration of a poisonous gas in the air that the human body can stand. The idea will be to watch constantly for contamination of the air—especially when a low-flying fog sets in.

It has been suggested that in the event of a new smog, the stations would provide ample warning.

Persons susceptible to the fog would then be evacuated and the particular mill, or mills, throwing off the poisonous agent would be closed down.

Meanwhile, Donora townspeople are losing their fears. At no time, however, was there panic in the town. Many became sick, but none became hysterical.

The U. S. Army sent representatives here to investigate the action of the population during the smog. The military wants to know what might happen to the population of a town should it be attacked by chemical bombs. The army's report, of course, will remain secret.

THREE-FOURTHS UNFIT

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Of 398 young men examined for the draft here, 75 per cent have been classified as unfit physically. They came from Cuyahoga, Ashtabula, Lake, Geauga, Huron, Erie and Lorain counties.

State Jaycees Book Pastor

COLUMBUS, O. — (UP) — Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Philadelphia minister, will be the principal speaker at the bi-monthly all-state meeting of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce here Nov. 6-7.

Dr. Poling, former senior minister of the Grace Baptist Temple in Philadelphia, recently resigned to become chaplain of the new Chapel of Four Chaplains, an inter-faith church.

Other speakers at the two-day meeting include Raymond E. (Tex) Roberts, former president of the Colorado Junior Chamber of Commerce and now editor of the group's trade journal, "Future"; William C. Graves, chief of immigration and naturalization in Cleveland; De Arv Barton, of the Music Corporation of America; and Harold Vincent, Canton superintendent of schools.

See Record Auto Output

DETROIT—(AP)—Can the auto industry build a million more vehicles in the remaining weeks of 1948?

The question is being heard in many industry quarters as the factories get into what may be their best production period of the year. Many industry analysts believe United States plants will turn out enough vehicles between now and Dec. 31 to set a new production record.

Just about a million more cars, trucks and coaches are needed to do this. So far this year production amounts to about 4,365,000 units. The record is 5,358,420 set in 1929.

The industry hasn't been able to build 500,000 vehicles in a month since mid-1941. The highest post-war mark was 481,432 cars and trucks built in March of this year; last month, second highest in output since the war, the factories turned out 480,000 units.

Hopes for a better showing in the remaining weeks of this year are based largely on an improved materials outlook. Any more plant closings for model change-overs are expected to be of brief duration.

If the 1948 output tops the industry's record mark it will be made up of about 4,000,000 passenger cars and 1,360,000 trucks and coaches.

Prisoner Walks Off

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Warrensville workhouse reported today that one of its trusties, Anthony Kumel of Lorain, walked away less than 24 hours after his imprisonment. He had been committed there for 22 days on seven charges of intoxication and six of contempt of court. Authorities gave his age as 40.

Beautifying the Army!

Army Streamlining Its WACS

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The WAC of tomorrow will be a creature of rare, streamlined beauty.

Not that the lady soldiers aren't sylph-like now; they'll just be more so.

A new deal is in the shuffle for them, and one day soon you'll see 'em marcing in review, with "gaceful and coordinated bodies, competent in athletics and blessed with a fine sense of rhythm." That's what the army says.

The army didn't take any chances in putting its program into effect at Camp Lee, Va. It placed First Lt. Margaret E. Brewster, chief of the physical training branch at the camp, in charge.

There is a young lady who can set a fine example. She's a beauty herself. A brunette in her early 30's, stands 5 feet three inches tall in her army shoes and weighs 115 pounds.

The WAC program comes in three parts.

The first is body conditioning, "which will impart a knowledge of body mechanics." The idea is to improve the body in symmetry, flexibility and grace and correct defects in posture. Special emphasis will be placed on abdominal and foot exercises.

A regular program of sports will be encouraged to develop skill in athletics and point up the importance of teamwork and good sportsmanship. There'll be archery, badminton, basketball, softball, tennis, volleyball, table tennis, speedball and swimming, according to the weather.

The rhythmic activities, according to the Army, will be on the WACs own time. There will be folk and square dancing and basic steps such as the waltz, the polka and two-step.

Lt. Brewster, a native of Beatrice, Neb., has been to more colleges than most professors. She holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Missouri and a master of science from Michigan. She also attended Christian college at Columbia, Mo., and the University of California. She is a physical education instructor in her own right and taught at Indiana university in Bloomington. After a long tour of duty during the war, at home and in India, she left military service to return to the quiet life of a civilian.

But she was recalled to active [illegible] the new pro[illegible].

The lieutenant practices what she teaches. She is out there every day, showing the girls how to keep the figures trim, the complexion beautiful.

When the gals take part in games, our heroine is the leader —and the participant, showing 'em how. And she knows how. She's a fine swimmer and could give many a runner-up lady tennis champ a rough time, if she had more time to practice.

When it comes to the fancy dance steps—she's right in there, too.

Nothing the young lady can't do. And do well.

Margaret's a WACs' WAC.

55 Homes Are Destroyed In Raging Brush Fires

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Two fires smoldered over 16,000 brush acres of drought-dry southern California today. One destroyed scores of homes in Topanga canyon near the Pacific ocean.

The other, inland in the Santa Ana district, still raged out of control on two 10-mile fronts, forcing the closing of State Highway 18.

No deaths were reported, although some 20 cases of minor injuries and burns were treated at the Topanga canyon fire.

The Topanga blaze was brought to a temporary standstill last night by back-firing, but fire fighters feared wind might arise again at daybreak to fan the flames southward toward the 400-the lines in the canyon, with nearly 6,000 acres already blackened. North of Santa Ana, about 1,000 men appeared to be making slight headway against fire lashing out over a 10,000-acre area.

The Topanga fire, in the Santa Monica mountains due west of Los Angeles, was spurred by a rare 30-mile Santana wind blowing from the dry San Fernando valley toward the ocean. It came so suddenly hundreds of residents had to flee, leaving belongings behind.

Los Angeles county fire wardens estimated some 55 homes—mostly small frame dwellings—were destroyed, with perhaps that many more damaged. Evacuated were the tiny communities of Silvia Park, Topanga Woods, Topanga Flat and Trippett Ranch.

Flames reached to within a half mile of Fernwood before they were checked. But 2,000 residents were alerted to be ready to leave.

A French inventor, Nicolas Jacques Conte, is considered the father of the modern pencil.

Nudists Seek Brighter Sun

OMAHA, Neb.—(U.P.)—H. P. Feree, 73, Nebraska's last nudism leader, has left his camp near Valley to establish a new "Garden of Eden" at Golden, Colo.

Feree, who claimed 30 couples from the Omaha area visited his Valley camp regularly last year, said he moved to Colorado because "Nebraska isn't close enough to the sun."

At the new "Garden of Eden" in Colorado "we live the pure life, naked and unashamed," Feree said. Members of the colony are "fruitarian vegetarians," he said. No smoking or drinking is allowed.

Air Force Has Model Berlin Airlift In Montana

Train Men To Replace Tired Pilots

Operation Called 'Little Vittles'

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—(AP)—"This is Big Willie 9051, five minutes north, 7,000 feet, Request clearance into Great Falls air force base."

That radio message crackles through earphones over the rolling Montana prairie these days. It's almost identical with the maze of radio messages heard along the Berlin airlift corridors.

A "Big Willie" is a four-engine U. S. Air Force C-54 cargo plane returning from Berlin. And its the same aircraft model asking permission to land at Great Falls.

Air force cargo plane crews here are hustling through intensive training as replacements for the Berlin airlift.

The "little vittles" operation in northcentral Montana is rapidly turning out three-man crews to take over C-54 Skymasters as men complete their three-month 90-mission tours of duty flying supplies to Berlin.

The military air transport service's red hot project aims to send 300 pilots, co-pilots and flight engineers to Germany every three weeks

There's an air of urgency at this large aerial embarkation port as experienced pilots and engineers fly a corridor in weather and terrain somewhat similar to Germany's.

LONG HOURS

There are no banker's hours. Ground school hours are 7 a. m to midnight, and corridor flights are around the clock.

Vittles replacement unit, transferred to Montana from Fairfield-Suisun, Calif., has instructor-pilots direct from the Berlin job with averaged logged flying time of 3,900 hours each Two have more than 6,000 each.

Lt. Leslie J. Greenwood, of Illinois, who logged 4,300 hours since 1944, is an instructor and check pilot.

Students are not exactly groundsmen. They have an average flying time of 1,700 hours. Minimum requirement is 1,200 hours in two-or four-engine planes, including 50 hours of instrument or blind flying time.

Students include present airmen on active duty, reservists called to active duty and volunteer airline pilots who can get six-month furloughs from their employers.

In the last two weeks of the three-week course, students continue ground school and get 20 hours of flying to become familiar with the C-54.

Midway in the course, planes are loaded with 10 tons of barreled sand, the average load in the Berlin lift.

The Montana corridor runs northwest from the air base. It's on a heading almost identical with the Berlin course It is 10 miles wide and about 50 miles long, much shorter than the Berlin corridor.

Operations here stress the last 10 minutes of the corridor flight, with Great Falls, 8,500-foot runways substituting for those in Berlin.

Virtually every flight is directed by ground controlled approach, which has proved so satisfactory in Germany Most trips are under simulated blind flying conditions and the planes are spaced in time and altitude much the same as in the airlift, where planes depart every three minutes

THEIR HANDS HIGH IN THE AIR, suspected Korean rebels are forced to kneel by loyalist troops during a round-up in Sunchon. The rebels are believed to have cooperated with Communist-inspired troops to overthrow the Southern Korean government established by American occupation authorities. (International).

DOUBLE TROUBLE

FORT WORTH, Tex—(UP)—Mrs Dorothy Maddox, admitting clerk at Pennsylvania Avenue hospital, found the case of Mrs Green plenty confusing. She admitted two Mrs. Greens to the hospital within 10 minutes. Both had the same doctor Both were in for the same type of major surgery. Both their husbands worked for the same drug store.

Doctor Says Smoke, Drink Combine to Halt Disease

BOSTON— (INS) —Smoking and drinking, when combined serve as an antidote for coronary heart disease in the opinion of an expert on cardiac ailments

Dr. William D. Stroud of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine in Philadelphia told doctors attending the seventh annual New England postgraduate medical assembly.

"Coronary occlusion is one of the foremost killers in the country today and is more common among all age groups than rheumatic fever or hypertension

"As a combined preventive measure and treatment, as you go through life you should have a cigar in one hand and a highball in the other to avoid coronary disease"

Dr. Stroud, a professor of cardiology, said further that alcohol was believed to dilate the blood vessels while nicotine constricted them He added:

"So if you must smoke, it would be well to keep up with a drinking habit. Have two or three drinks a day, with plenty of water. Straight whiskey will cause gastritis"

NAMED TO COMMITTEE

CRESTLINE — George Beck Rev. R L. Van Scoy, L. L. Hill and Orie Garverick were appointed as the committee to make arrangements for the annual father and son banquet to be held soon after the first of the year, when the Brotherhood class met for its regular meeting in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE EIGHT MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1948

News-Journal Grows With Mansfield

ANNOUNCEMENT that News-Journal daily circulation has now passed the 26,000 mark serves as a reminder of earlier days of newspaper experience in Mansfield, when The News—Mansfield's first permanent daily newspaper—was slowly moving toward the 5,000 point in circulation and when a circulation of 10,000 was regarded as no more than an optimistic dream.

It was a memorable day when the 5,000 mark was finally reached—in around 1906—then came the climb toward 10,000, with growing circulation reflecting Mansfield progress and expansion of trading area. Population increases, industrial development and suburban extension all contributed to circulation gains that carried to 15,000, later to 20,000, and now to excess of 26,000.

It has been the constant effort of The News-Journal to keep pace with increased responsibilities that have accompanied this greater service to the community, and mechanically, as well as in the personnel of its various departments, it has sought to provide the means of publishing a newspaper which compares favorably with those of much larger cities.

Following the purchase of a site at the northwest corner of West Fourth and North Mulberry streets, plans are now in the making for a modern and fully equipped newspaper plant—which will serve not only as an expression of appreciation of the responsibilities which are involved in giving adequate newspaper service to readers and advertisers but also evidences confidence in continuance of growth of Mansfield and the need of preparation to meet steadily increasing requirements for the complete newspaper service which The News-Journal endeavors to give. —G. J. K.

Party Lines Weak In Ohio Election

OHIO VOTERS again showed their "independence" in Tuesday's election by returning Frank J. Lausche to the governor's office after having ousted him two years ago in favor of Thomas J. Herbert, who is being retired after one term.

The swing from defeat two years ago to Lausche's impressive majority of 200,000, or more, this year, with Don Ebright, Republican state auditor, returned to that office despite the Democratic landslide, evidences an extent of independent voting in this state which is a tribute to the intelligence of the electorate—however much it may disturb partisan preference for "straight" tickets.

Causes which entered into the shift in support of gubernatorial candidates this year are almost as obscure as the unexpected upset on the national ticket, and it will be up to former Governor—now Governor-elect—Lausche to demonstrate that the expression of voter preference was deserved.

Toledo Voters Prefer One Time

WHILE Mansfielders did not vote on the subject of daylight saving time, as had been proposed, this subject continues of lively interest and will probably come up for discussion again next spring.

It is therefore of interest to note that Toledoans voted on this question at Tuesday's election and that the decision was decisively AGAINST spring and fall changes of timepieces, with preference for continuing on Eastern standard time the year 'round.

Toledo's council, like the Mansfield legislative body, had felt inclined to leave the time change question up to majority decision and it was by a vote of 63,168 against 37,182 that Toledoans indicated preference of maintaining one time throughout the year.

Looking Toward Next Halloween

NOW THAT Mansfield has passed through another Halloween season, with a highly successful downtown carnival occasion, the community advantage of perpetuating such an observance of Halloween has become so generally recognized that some organized effort should be made to spread sponsorship beyond the individual responsibility that has marked the event up to this time.

The idea of a masquerade Halloween party, as an outlet for exuberant juvenile spirits, originated with the late Fred Hunt around forty years ago and since his death has been continued by his widow, Mrs. Ada Hunt Doerr, whose liberality in meeting costs of prizes and other expenses involved in preparing for and carrying through the annual event has made its continuance possible.

There can be no assurance of permanence in individual sponsorship, however, nor should such a heavy burden of responsibility rest upon any one person year after year. It cannot be doubted that an interested organization could gain the financial support needed to carry through the idea of a creditable Halloween celebration, along mardi gras lines, each year, and it may be hoped that before another October rolls around some such project will be developed.

De Valera Strives For United Ireland

THE WELSH should have a parliament of their own, and could count on Irish help toward getting it provided they in turn would try to end the partition of Ireland, says former Premier Eamon de Valera of Eire. He has been campaigning all over the British Isles against partition.

There does not seem to be much analogy between the cases of Wales and Ireland. Eire and Northern Ireland each have their own parliament. The Southern Irish wish a merger of the two states as a free Ireland; the Northern Irish do not. Doubtless many inhabitants of Northern Ireland are in favor of union, but they seem to be in the minority.

Unless de Valera would plan to use force, there is no likely way whereby Northern Ireland can be made to come under the banner of Eire.

And on the other hand, one observer contends: "The government shouldn't try to provide everything. It should give everybody a car and let it go at that."

What Some Other People Are Saying

AGRICULTURE SECRETARY BRANNAN: "With President Truman's election there is now an opportunity to repair the damage done by the 80th Congress."

* * *

PRESIDENT TRUMAN: "I promise that I will carry out the Democratic platform to the best of my ability. . . . I have a Democratic Congress to work with."

* * *

JAMES A. FARLEY, former Democratic national chairman: "The Truman-Barkley victory is another great tribute to American democracy and the independent thought of our people."

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

Must U. S. Settle China's Troubles?

By FRED HAMPSON (For DeWitt Mackenzie)

SHANGHAI — If communism's fast flow over Asia is to be stopped, the United States must tackle the knotty problem of China again quickly and find a better solution than any tried so far.

Whether or not communism has been halted in Europe, it certainly has not been stopped in Asia where its encroachment appears geared to China's civil war. Every time the Chinese Reds score a big victory communist cells begin to ferment all over the Far East.

Red China never looked stronger. The loss of Tsinan, Shantung capital, for example, left Nanking, Shanghai and the Yangtze heartland of Chiang Kai-Shek's China open to attack. Time draws short.

What can America do? Veteran observers in China know the answer is not simply granting more money. The money will disappear and the Reds will keep on coming. Observers see these four courses open:

1. Write off China, let Chiang fall, and hope that Chinese communism will not succeed. A lot of people don't think it would.

2. Abandon China except for a foothold on the coast as a beachhead should a war against world communism come. Tsingtao, U. S. Navy base, seems logical. It isn't strong now, but it could be built up.

3. Continue small-scale aid to Chiang in the hope of buying time. This is the present policy, but it hasn't had much success.

4. Throw in big-scale aid and try to defeat communism in China in the hope that thereafter other Asiatic Reds will curl up and die.

The fourth course seems to be the most popular now with Americans except those who would have to administer the job. These last favor the idea but despair of making it work.

* * *

"Patriotism" Is Lacking.

CHINA is a huge, sprawling land mass, criss-crossed by mountains and rivers with few roads and railroads. In its best days China had little national cohesion. Large sections are almost autonomous and pay little heed to Nanking. Some of these sections are the richest.

Its 450 millions live at peaks of sumptuous wealth and depths of grinding poverty. Literacy is about 10 per cent. Millions of Chinese even in cities don't know the name of their own president. Always badly governed, Chinese have little or no feeling of patriotism by western standards.

As to the civil war, the average Chinese is more interested in keeping out of the way than in winning it. He isn't half as concerned about saving China from communism as the Americans are.

To hom the communists are just another conqueror, and he has had conquerors coming and going for centuries without any noticeable change in his lot. He dislikes soldiers, Red or government, and has suffered at the hands of both.

So this vast, loose and indifferent nation, which in its heart dislikes foreigners much more than it dislikes any special political breed of Chinese, is asked to halt the spread of communism.

Some pretty good U. S. military brains have come to China and tried to bend it to a unified war effort. Most of them admitted they went slighly crazy in the process.

A very large segment of foreigners in China believe the United States can stop communism in China only with a terrific amount of direct intervention in the nation's affairs.

They say the intervention must be almost as much as the U. S. now is exerting in such conquered countries as Japan.

Such intervention would be hard to sell to the people of the United States, and it would be intensely unpopular with the Chinese.

Six months ago you wouldn't have suggested it to the Nanking government, but the government is pretty much on the ropes now and might listen.

Stopping communism in Asia boils down to stopping the Chinese communists. But beyond that point it no longer boils down. It boils up.

The Nation Today

After Thinking It Over

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—One man used bare knuckles. The other wouldn't get his hair mussed.

That was one of the chief differences between the campaigns of President Truman and Governor Dewey.

And it's one of the things that may have cost Dewey the election.

Dewey, with all the public opinion polls and the experts telling him he was a cinch to win, campaigned as if he believed it.

And if he was such a cinch why bother making specific promises, or at least very many of them?

He didn't act like a man in a fight. It was as if he already had the presidency home safe in the refrigerator. So he never gave off much heat. And he didn't come down off the mountain to slug it out with Mr. Truman.

He talked mostly in generalities. Mr. Truman derided him for talking about "home, mother, unity and efficiency."

True, Dewey might not have wanted to make too many promises for fear Congress, even though controlled by his own Republicans, might block him.

The President campaigned the other way. It was an uphill fight for him and, when he talked, he talked meat and potatoes.

He was for something, or against it. You might disagree with him, but you never had to wonder where he stood or what he'd try to do if elected.

He stated the things he thinks need doing. He said he was kept from doing them by the 80th Congress, controlled by Republicans.

He said he'd still do them if the people re-elected him, threw out the Republicans, and gave him a Democratic Congress.

The voters did just that.

* * *

Probing For Causes.

THERE are lots of ways of looking at the election results and their causes. Trying to explain them will keep many people busy.

Maybe many voters felt there wasn't much to choose between the candidates and, out of a mass dislike for the cold Dewey, turned to the warmer Truman.

Organized labor — out for revenge on the Republicans for passing the Taft-Hartley Act — had a big hand in helping Mr. Truman win.

And sympathy for the underdog, which Mr. Truman was, may have brought him some votes.

Those are just some of the reasons offered for the Truman victory.

This election certainly can be considered as clear an expression of democracy at work — people independently making up their own minds and doing something about it — as any in American history.

For months it had been dinned into them, by the so-called experts and the pollsters, that Mr. Truman couldn't win.

Instead of accepting those opinions — even though individually they may have thought their vote was being wasted — they voted for Mr. Truman.

And they quickly undid something they had done two years ago.

In 1946 the people, for the first time since 1932, gave the Republicans full control of Congress. This was the 80th Congress.

After watching that Congress at work for two years blocking Mr. Truman's proposals, the people on Tuesday decided they'd "had enough." They threw out the Republicans and put the Democrats back in control of Congress.

One thing cannot be denied. The majority of the voters approve what Mr. Truman stands for and the promises he made.

If they disapproved, it would be absurd to elect him and so put him in a position to try to do what he said he'd do if elected.

The proof: They gave him the Democratic Congress he said he needed to carry out his promises.

Blame Placed on Lobby-Ridden Congress

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Harry Truman, it's now conceded, was his own best poll-taker. He made the faces of Dr. Gallup, Elmo Roper and the Crossley people look very red.

Talking to his friend Morris Ernst a short time ago, Truman remarked that the political pollsters would blush on the day after election.

Ernst, though one of the few who really expected Truman to win, half jokingly asked the President what he would do after he was defeated.

"I'm not going to be defeated," replied Truman. "But if I should be, I would go into the poll business and put Dr. Gallup and the others out of business."

* * *

Why Truman Won.

HERE are this columnist's ideas on why Harry Truman won out over Thomas E. Dewey in the modern amazing version of the race between the tortoise and the hare:

1. The American people admire a man with courage even though they don't always agree with him. Truman didn't duck a single issue, though some of them were so tough they caused bitter rebellion inside his party. Dewey sidestepped most thorny issues, tried to please both wings of his party.

2. The American people side with the underdog, don't like to see the powerful guy kick the little fellow around. Up until midnight, Nov. 2, Truman was the underdog in this race.

3. A man can win with labor against him or the farmers, or the housewives. But he can't win with a large section of labor and the farmers and the housewives—all against him.

4. Dewey didn't alienate these three groups, but the 80th Congress did. The American public in 1946 had been honestly, hungrily wanting a change; so they voted the 80th Congress in. But a two-year glimpse of that GOP-controlled, lobby-ridden Congress made most people shudder.

In brief, the Republicans had their heaven-sent chance with the 80th Congress and they blithely threw it away.

The American people are smart. You can't fool 'em, as Abraham Lincoln so historically noted at Gettysburg.

And here are some of the things about the 80th Congress that turned their stomachs:

* * *

Lobbies Helped Truman.

The Big Tax Lobby—How Republicans on the ways and means committee put Wall Street lawyers on a special committee to write the new tax laws—In favor of the big-bracket boys.

The Big Grain Lobby — How three Argentine and European grain combines hired a Kansas City ex-congressman to sabotage government grain storage and government grain purchases in the new farm bill.

The Manufacturers' Lobby — How the reciprocal trade act, the teachers' pay act, and especially all attempts at price control were killed by the big-business boys. How Rep. Charley Halleck, GOP leader in the House, constantly consorted with the National Association of Manufacturers. Also how he drove around in two new Cadillac cars.

The Real Estate Lobby—How, with millions of people pounding the pavements looking for homes, the lobby cleverly and repeatedly blocked public housing, but put across government subsidies for its own real estate ventures.

Then there was the shameless Tidelands oil lobby, the liquor lobby, the steel lobby, and various lesser lobbies, all in a rush to "get theirs" and all brazenly welcomed to the bosom of the 80th Congress.

This writer has watched Washington for nearly a quarter of a century, and never was a position of public trust more flagrantly flouted.

The public knew this — and voted accordingly.

* * *

They Deserted the Ship.

They probably won't be around the White House anymore:

Bernard Baruch — The elder statesman got an appeal from Truman to serve on a committee to help the Democratic party, but declined. Truman wrote back a stinging letter reminding Bernie that he had appointed his brother as ambassador, always listened to his advice and that friendship was a two-way street.

Kenneth Royall — The hulking secretary of the army, sometimes called "Dumbo," went out of his way in an interview to describe Truman's election as not necessary to national defense.

John L. Sullivan — The handsome secretary of the navy's contribution to the political campaign was largely playing golf at the Burning Tree Country club. While the "chief" was making dozens of speeches daily, Sullivan, Royall, Symington and Forrestal basked in the October sunshine on the golf course.

James Forrestal—Sometime ago Forrestal decided that Dewey was going to win, and from that point on lifted no finger to help Harry Truman. His high-sounding excuse: "Defense was more important than politics." Truman has always been under Forrestal's thumb, but it may not be the same way anymore.

Knew It All the Time

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — This correspondent is shame-faced today about his own past behavior concerning election predictions.

My conduct has been specifically shameful because I knew what was happening, but muffled my shout into a faint whisper and let the whisper die out.

Personally, I did not waver, as my bank account will now testify. In words of few syllables, I bet on Truman right down to the end.

And, if you want to know the secret, the only reason I knew was that I kept asking people across the country how they, personally, were going to vote — not who they thought was going to win. It was, and is, that simple.

For those who like facts to back up dogmatic statements, I need only refer to this correspondent's columns during the month of April. The one printed on April 1 made it clear that Henry Wallace would never steal too many Truman votes because he would be recognized, in the final analysis, as futile.

More important, the one published on April 2 — check the files yourself — said that the boys should, for heaven's sake, quit counting Truman out, that he had proved too often how well he could bounce back up in public opinion, and that the so-called "southern revolt" was not going to stop him.

(I was given a sharp public and personal scolding from Mississippi Governor Fielding Wright for that column, the day it appeared in the Memphis, Tennessee, Commercial-Appeal. Well, governor.)

* * *

Why He Kept Still.

SO IT WENT. I wrote a couple of similar pieces in May, one in June and one in July. Never, in all that time I did imply that Dewey was going to win. In August and September, I pretty much coasted, much to my shame.

In October, I was being razzed and ridiculed so unmercifully — all this time I was orally insisting Truman would win — that I shifted into the non-political birds, bees and butterflies writing routine.

Only once — on the twenty-seventh — did I get angry enough to write that "All polls to the contrary, he — Truman —still may well be the next president." For days, I was kidded about that one.

In the end, it got so bad that every night, before I sat down to write a grimly "non-political" piece about some innocuous personality, my wife would warn me, "Now don't get mad and tell them that Truman is going to win."

Apart from its admitted apology, the whole purpose of the foregoing is to point out one thing: The only reason I knew what was going to happen was that I asked the voters, not who they thought would win, but how they were going to vote.

On Tuesday, most of them thought Dewey would win.

But on Tuesday, most of them voted for Truman.

Pass the Coffee, Please.

Statisticians for a firm operating out of Minneapolis have arrived at a provocative figure on the nation's coffee consumption. They say that we the people are putting away our favorite beverage at the rate of nearly 8 billion gallons this year. That's around 1 billion more gallons than the total volume of milk to be consumed in the same period.

And now we're really curious. Will these know-it-all keepers of the records please advise us how much of the coffee imbibed is being consumed on taxpayers' time by government employes?

It's a wedely known fact that coffee sipping is the favorite indoor, work-hour recreation of the less energetic among the 2 million persons on the federal pay rolls. Perhaps if the bureaucracy is ever cut down to an efficient size, then milk will become No. 1 on the beverage popularity list.—Kansas City Times.

Farmer's Diary

Old Story—New Version

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Once upon a time a little fish let his curiosity lead him off away upstream. He was a lively, bright-eyed, slippery mite somewhat vain in his own conceit. When he entered a cavern and found the water cool but not too cold, he liked the exclusive atmosphere so well that he stayed and made his home there.

It was dark in the cave and he nosed his way around cautiously at first—but he met and mated with a fish who had been there longer than he. Generations later, when the descendents of these two began to be born without eyes, nobody was wise enough to explain to them what they had missed, or why, so they could never know.

To this day, guides who usher tourists through Mammoth Cave explain, "Fish are born here without eyes."

* * *

Once there was a farm-born young man who had yearnings for power and fame. He was tall and strong, with a full set of splendid teeth, keen wits and extraordinary senses. He was proud, and he had a conqueror's urge, so he left his home and traveled into a far-off country where he had heard it was easy to get rich quick.

There he went to work for the wealthy proprietor of a pleasure resort, He operated the farm where the owner produced grain for his brewery, fruits for his wine-cellar, and white flour for the richest of pastries. The grains were milled carefully—the hulls and bran were given to the porkers which supplied the wealthy man's table with tender ham.

The young man became familiar with rich living, and grew more and more dissatisfied. His employer's daughter vainly tried to win his favor. He knew she was no match for him, and their children, if they had any, would be less than he.

He envied the swine who ate husks and were satisfied. He himself was not what he had been. His teeth had decayed, his hair had come out, he had lost his splendid balance and begun to have spells of trembling. All at once he knew he was homesick and hungry for his mother's cooking. He knew he had been a fool.

So he went back home, humbly, ready to learn, and when he had received his father's blessing, he devoted his life to a search for the laws of truth. To this day, some of his children's children survive, their intelligence consecrated to the task of leading the world to a table spread by the Father of us all.

Teacher Plan Approved By Galion Board

Provides For Observations

GALION — Inauguration of an observation program for teachers in the Galion public school system was approved by the Galion Board of Education at its November meeting last night at Senior high school.

The program provides for each teacher in the school system to take one day out of the year for the purpose of visiting another school and to observe methods of teaching in the particular field of work pertaining to the teacher. Schools to be visited will be recommended by the administration.

Approval of the board on the program was necessary in order to pay for 60 days of substitute teaching while teachers are visiting neighboring and outstanding schools in Ohio.

Walter Zaugg, professor of education at Bowling Green State university, was approved as commencement speaker. Exercises have been set for June 2, 1949.

The board also heard representatives of the Galion Lions club who presented a sight correction program which they desire to have used in the school system. The program provides for a three-way check of the eyes of school children by use of charts, and a further examination by Galion optometrists.

Plans also were discussed again on the building program. Construction of two elementary schools in the city is in the program which has been approved for several months.

Group Plans Folk Dances

A committee of four YWCA and four YMCA members met at the YWCA Thursday night to make plans for a folk dance program to be held this winter. The program will be jointly sponsored by the two associations.

The first of the dances, to be known as "double 'Y' dances," will be held from 8:30 to 12 p. m. Nov. 20 at the YMCA. Western folk dancing will be taught by Miss Mildred Moxley who has taught folk dancing on dude ranches in Texas.

The dances will be open to the public with a small admission charge.

Members of the committee are Joe Damoff, Joe Nixon, Lewis Snavely, Roy Miles, Janet Sangree, Barbara Tilton, Amelia Zaros and Barbara Connor. Damoff was named at the meeting to head the publicity committee. Janet Sanfree is chairman of the decorations committee.

The general chairman will be appointed at the next meeting Nov. 15.

The case against Mrs. Mildred Guthrie, operator of the Salon for Beauty, 22 Helen avenue, charged with employing an unlicensed cosmetologist, today was continued until Nov. 12 in municipal court.

The court granted the continuance so that the director of the state bureau that licenses cosmetologists can testify on whether Anna Hagerman, who was employed by Mrs. Guthrie, has a license to practice.

31 Take Civil Service Exams For Appointive City Jobs

Thirty-one persons took civil service examinations at John Simpson junior high school last night.

Tom Woodard, chairman of the civil service commission said the examinations were given to fill eligibility lists which the service-safety director can draw on when city jobs are open.

Only the post of policewoman is open at present, and Miss Ruth Craig is serving in that capacity on a provisional appointment. Another person applied for the post, but the results will not be available until Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison makes a permanent appointment, Woodard said.

Woodard said two persons took police examinations three firemen, one police department clerk-stenographer, one water department meter reader and collector, two sewage disposal plant operators, one painter, one painter's helper, two meter repairmen, six Class "A" laborers, seven truck drivers, one truck driver's helper, and one assistant school custodian.

Club Hears Dr. Robinson

Socialized medicine was discussed yesterday by Dr. Hamilton G. Robinson at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Dr. Robinson, professor of oral pathology at Ohio State university, was introduced by program chairman, Dr. Robert Pollock of Mansfield.

During the last year of the war, Dr. Robinson said, the United States Public Health service seized upon the reports of Selective Service officials on the increasing unfitness of new draftees and used that as an argument for socialized medicine.

Using the unbiased Brookings Institute report, the speaker pointed out that according to its statistics, many of the unfit draftees suffered from chronic ailments such as one leg shorter than the other, poor hearing, and other defects that medicine, socialized or not, could no nothing about.

The American people enjoy the best health in the world, claimed Dr Robinson, and American medicine as a whole is far superior to any other country's.

Wins Leniency In Shooting

Mrs. Frances Floyd Merritt 185 Crystal Spring street, was placed on three years probation in Common Pleas court today after she pleaded guilty to a charge of shooting with intent to wound.

She was under indictment for shooting her brother-in-law, Richard "Honeyboy" Jones, Mansfield boxer, as he sat in his car on a downtown street last May 10. He was wounded in the face.

Mrs Merritt previously pleaded innocent but changed her plea.

Other persons under grand jury indictment will be heard Saturday and Monday, Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said today.

Rabbi Eugene Lipman, who will be in charge of the service, will present a gift to Mrs. Anglin.

Rev. David N. Roller and the entire congregation of the First Presbyterian church of which Mrs. Anglin is a member, have been invited to attend the service.

Confident In Drive

Community Chest leaders said today that they feel confident they will make their quota of $122,635 after the drive ends, if not before.

Workers reported a total $115,779 at noon today, the final day of the extended campaign. The drive will officially close at 6 p. m. today.

The Blue Stars unit reported $60,420 and the Red Feathers $55,359

Leaders in the drive said they expected to receive another gift of $5,000 from industry today. They also expect to receive more contributions from the uptown divisions today.

GOP Edge Possible In Ohio Senate

Toledo Recount Revives Hopes

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio Republicans found today they may have salvaged one more usable timber from the wreckage left by the Democratic election sweep. That would be a one-man edge in the state senate.

Up to last night the Democrats had a 17-16 majority there, along with the governorship and all other state offices except treasurer, won by incumbent Don Ebright.

However, there was a chance that Sen. Raymond E. Hildebrand of Toledo might have been elected over Democrat Robert C. Ragan. If so, the Republicans have a 17-16 majority. That would stand against the Democrats 70-65 margin in the house.

Ragan was believed to have won but Lucas county elections officials discovered an apparent precinct error which gave Hildebrand a 19-vote lead

However, the vote was so close that officials said the exact result could not be determined until the official count had been completed, probably next week.

The senate, which has 36 members now, will have only 33 because of reapportionment due to population changes.

Meanwhile, the complete unofficial returns on Ohio's sentiments in the presidential election showed that the state's 25 electoral votes went to President Truman on only 18,451 votes among 2,704,501 cast.

The returns gave President Truman 1,461,476 to Gov. Thomas E Dewey's 1,443,025

Without Cuyahoga county, which gave him a 53,592 margin, the President would have lost the state The vote there was Truman 264,669, Dewey 211,077.

In the rest of the state Dewey had a plurality of 35,141.

The hot fight between Gov. Thomas J Herbert, Republican, and former Gov Frank J. Lausche Democrat, was reflected in the vote finals. They brought out 3,091,263 votes, with 45 polling places still missing, as compared with the 2,704,501 cast for president, with all returns in Lausche won.

'RITUAL OF JEWELS' HELD FOR EPSILON IOTA PLEDGES

Beta Sigma Phi Members Welcome New Group at Formal Dinner Thursday Evening.

IN AN IMPRESSIVE candlelight service, "The Ritual of Jewels," three pledges of the Epsilon Iota chapter of Beta Sigma Phi were awarded their jeweled pins and seven pledges were formally initiated into the sorority Thursday evening at the Grace Episcopal church.

A formal dinner was served at 7 p. m. in the undercroft of the church. Tables were attractively decorated with copper mums and bittersweet and tall yellow tapers in crystal candelabra lighted the room. Dainty hand-made Talisman rose cups marked each member's place at the U-shaped table.

Mrs. Paul Lantz, president of the chapter, presided for the ritual. Pledges who received their pins were Mrs. Darrell Bush, Mrs. Donald Hout and Mrs. Walter Becker. Those initiated were Mrs. Loyal Niebel, Mrs. George Beck, Miss Doris Crane, Miss Ann Stulpin, Mrs. Fred Wagner, Mrs. Robert Colwell and Mrs. James Cunningham.

Mrs. V. P. Thompson played the music for the ritual. Later a short business session was held in charge of Mrs. Lantz, at which time plans were discussed for the joint chapter dance to be held Nov. 27 at the Richland Recreation. Speros Karos and his orchestra will furnish the music for the affair which is open to the public.

Miss Ruth Hammer, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced that tickets are on sale for the Epsilon Iota benefit bridge party to be held Nov. 30 at 8 p. m. at Prospect park pavilion. This party is also open to the public and tickets may either be purchased at the door or from one of the members.

Members in charge of the dinner last evening were Mrs. V. P. Thompson, chairman, Mrs. Charles Baloy, Mrs. Richard Colwell, Mrs. Edwin Sheets, Mrs. Jack Saylor and Mrs. Robert Kaser.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 18 at 8 p. m. at the Southern hotel clubrooms.

Presbyterian Circles Convene For Respective Meetings

MRS. H. D. KLEE, 665 Manchester road, was hostess to twenty members of Circle Two of the First Presbyterian church Thursday at a 1:30 dessert luncheon. Fall flowers were placed throughout the house. Mrs. C. A. Grupen and Mrs. Gilbert Spell were the associate hostesses.

Mrs. John Angle, chairman, presided for the business session. Plans were made for a Christmas project. The circle will send gifts to some of the miner's families in southern Ohio.

Mrs. P. F. Haley led the group in devotions, using "Thanksgiving as her theme.

Reports were given by Mrs. W. H. Gifford on the Presbyterial meeting in Shelby Oct. 20.

The next regular meeting will be December 2 at the home of Mrs. G. W. Fox, 79 Sherman avenue. This will be a dessert luncheon.

* * *

Thirty-two members and two guests, Rev. D. N. Roller and Mrs. Al Baerren, attended a covered-dish luncheon of circle four of the First Presbyterian church yesterday at the church parlors.

Hostesses at the serving table were Mrs. O. M. Sheaffer, Miss Myrtle Booth and Mrs. Norwood King. Gourds and bittersweet formed the centerpiece with tapers in bittersweet colors and napkins containing Thanksgiving verses decorating the table. Mrs. Colombo Bosca and Mrs. H. M. Montgomery presided at another table which was centered with chrysanthemums.

Devotions were led by Mrs. J. H. Stevens and Mrs. Montgomery, chairman, conducted the business meeting. Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held Nov. 16, at 9 a. m. at the church parlors.

The program was opened with a skit on funny hats, in which the entire group participated. Mrs. A. J. Knight whistled and played on original piano selection.

The next meeting will be a 1 o'clock luncheon, Dec. 2, at the home of Mrs. R. M Calene, 132 Parkwood boulevard.

Key Congress Changes Due

Public Power Boosters Aided

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The Democratic victory will catapult some long-time boosters of public power and irrigation developments into key congressional jobs.

It also puts the Democrats in a position where they can reverse the last GOP Congress' action in firing Reclamation Commissioner Michael Straus and one of his top aides. Their ouster will become effective next February unless the new Congress saves them.

The dismissals were recommended by Rep. Forest Harness (R-Ind.) one of the GOP election casualties. Harness also was one of the leading Republican critics of Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug.

While Rep. Ben Jensen (R-Ia.) was re-elected to Congress, the Democratic House majority means Jensen will lose his chairmanship of the interior appropriations subcommittee. The ranking Democrat on the subcommittee is Rep. Michael Kirwan of Ohio, a New Dealer in his views on public power and irrigation.

In the Senate, Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) is in line to become chairman of the interior and insular affairs committee. Now pending before that committee is the controversial bill to remove the 160-acre limitation on the amount of water the Reclamation bureau can furnish a single landowner.

Democrat, Lost During Air Trip, Voted Into Office

LEWISTON, Idaho— (AP) —Joe Rosenkranz won his first political victory in Tuesday's election, but he doesn't know it yet.

In fact, the 5,447 Nez Perce county voters who elected him state representative on the Democratic ticket aren't even sure Joe is alive.

Rosenkranz and another Lewiston man, W. J. Bolick, haven't been seen since Oct. 24. On that stormy Sunday their red Stinson plane disappeared in the wilds of the Selway-Lochsa area of north central Idaho.

Air and ground searchers have found no trace of the men.

But Rosenkranz' wife, who has offered $5,000 to the person finding him, and his fellow Democrats, who continued to work unflaggingly for his election, still were hopeful today.

They think Joe, like his party leader, Harry Truman, will come back—against all odds.

Russians Quote Voice of America

NEW YORK— (INS) —The Moscow radio told the Russian people of President Truman's victory by quoting the "Voice of America" for the first time as a source of information.

The Moscow radio in the past has only mentioned the Voice in a derogatory fashion.

Government officials in New York monitored the Moscow broadcast.

Says Roosevelt Over-Rode Hull's Orders On Guru Cult's Expedition

I HAVE received an enlightening letter from a man who held an important position in our embassy in Japan when Henry Wallace's Guru, Nicholas Roerich, passed through on his way to raise ruckus in Manchuria and China. On this expedition, Roerich and his suite used credentials from the department of agriculture because Cordell Hull, the secretary of state, had a folder high as a tomcat's back on the old fortune-teller and refused to give him a passport.

"I am delighted," my informant says, "to give you all I have on Roerich and his trip to the Far East in the mid-thirties under the auspices of his Chela, Henry Wallace."

This expedition to the Orient took place in 1934 and Roosevelt made Wallace vice president in 1940, knowing that we were hell-bent for war.

Resuming the letter:

"My first knowledge of the affair came from a letter from the secretary of agriculture (Wallace) to the secretary of state (Hull) asking formal clearance for a proposed expedition to be sent by agriculture to Mongolia to collect seeds of a drought-resisting grass. The expedition was to include Roerich, who was to be the leader, several scientists from agriculture and armed guards, to be supplied, as I recall, either by the Peking Marine detachment or by the Army guard in Tientsin."

Note, please, that Wallace and Roosevelt himself were going to commit American men to any folly that Bubblehead's Guru might kick up, possibly to be killed for the gratification of a slobbering jumble-wit's religious infatuation. Remember, too, that Roosevelt had ample proof of Roerich's dangerous character.

"This letter (from Wallace to Hull) was referred to the Far Eastern division of the state department, of which I was then a member. The area in which the expedition was to operate was then, as now, in confusion and disorder. There was free-for-all fighting among all the parties — Japanese, Chinese, Mongols, Russians and Manchus. A letter was sent to agriculture vetoing this harebrained scheme. The Chela (Wallace) then went to the President (Roosevelt) who vetoed Hull's veto and gave his approval."

"Kermit Roosevelt (a son of President Theodore Roosevelt), whom I hold in affectionate memory, told me that when he and Suydam Cutting were once coming down from the Himalayas and were following the uppermost reaches of the Yangtse, coming around the bend in a precipitous gorge, hundreds of miles from nowhere, they saw a procession headed by a white woman wearing a picture hat and carrying a fluffy parasol. It was Mrs. Roerich." (Known by the cultish name of Modra to Henry Wallace and other intimates of the goofy esoteric circle.)

"Her husband was with her. They gave no information as to where they were bound or for what purpose."

This informant's inside information confirms my own published accounts of the dispersal of the expedition, the exile of Roerich to India by a threat of prison for a framed-lp income tax evasion and Bubblehead Wallace's dishonest and cowardly attempt to suppress his humiliating conduct. The banishment of the Guru was a part of that scheme.

Says Truman Declared That He'd Back Eisenhower For Presidency

PRESIDENTIAL CONFETTI

If Gen'l Eisenhower had been a candidate, would he have run as a Republican or Democrat? I leave it to you to figure out when you get to the end of this hitherto unpublished history. . . . Every time Republican publisher Roy Roberts of Kansas City told the wire services Ike wouldn't run, Ike confirmed it two days later. . . . The newspaper which bid the highest price to publish Eisenhower's memoirs, "Crusade in Europe," was the N. Y. Herald Tribune, voice of the GOP. . . . Columbia Univ., of which Ike is president, was governed for decades by Nicholas Murray Butler, a Republican. And we heard other Republicans, such as Landon, hoped he would run.

★

But on page 444 of Eisenhower's book (in the first printing, that is, there is the revelation of a meeting in Germany with Pres. Truman. Gen. Bradley was also in the car Eisenhower said that when the war was over, there was nothing he wanted to do but retire. He says the President replied: "General, there is nothing you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the Presidency in 1948."

★

Reporter Jim Doyle killed the chances of a Vice-Presidential candidate with one quip: During the convention that nominated Landon—Bridges was boomed as his running mate . . . Doyle rushed into print with: "If Bridges is nominated, the Democrats will be a cinch to go to town to the tune of Landon-Bridges Falling Down!"

That finished Bridges.

★

The New York and Pennsylvania combined electoral vote (83) is almost one-third of the 266 votes necessary to elect a President. Only one man was elected without winning both states—Wilson. . . . The smallest President in stature was Madison. He was slightly over five feet and weighed an even 100 pounds. . . . Only Washington has ever received the electoral college's unanimous vote. . . . Although Ohio is known as the Mother of Presidents, more Chief Execs were born in Virginia . . . Washington did not receive any salary as President. . . . Teddy Roosevelt coined the phrase, "tossing my hat in the ring," when he announced his candidacy. . . . Just 2 Presidents were born west of the Mississippi: Hoover and Truman. . . . A few states require electors to vote for their party candidates, but in most they are not bound to. However, no elector has ever voted for the candidate of another party. . . . Pres Taylor didn't vote until he was 62.

★

The FDR-baiters have been writing books, magazine articles and newspaper pieces villifying him. They would have you believe FDR and the New Deal are discredited. In the current edition of Fortune mag the Roper Polls reveals the majority of the American people approve the reforms established by the New Deal. And this poll also reveals that FDR is regarded by most Americans as the most admirable man in public affairs of the last two American generations! . . . And remember—Fortune is a Luce publication—which has been anti-New Deal.

★

Die-hards are still baring their fangs at FDR. One of their squawks is that Roosevelt was a rich man and a country squire.

So what? Why don't they attack another country squire who was this nation's richest President—George Washington?

★

It is hoped that those of you who backed the Loser for the sake of the Party—will back the Winner for the Sake of the Country.

20 Granted Citizenship At Ceremony

Applications OK'd After Hearing

Twenty Richland countians were holding their heads higher today, for they are new American citizens.

They were granted citizenship yesterday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch at ceremonies at the courthouse.

When the ceremony was over, Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning produced the papers for the new citizens to sign.

As they finished signing Wenning shook hands with each one and congratulated him. There was an undercurrent of excitement in the room as friends and relatives of the new citizens offered their felicitations.

The following persons were granted citizenship:

Lydia Bambach, 360 Second avenue; Dolores Rabquer, 323 Prescott street; Norman J. Lucas, 924 Wooster road; Andrew Meng and Elisabeth Meng, 343 Davis road;

Steven Chada, Shelby; Elizabeth Lorraine Stash, 598 Clifton boulevard; David Octavius Calderhead, 325 Reed street; Katherina Gaubatz, 360 Fourth avenue; Steve Baloy, Shiloh, R D. 1; Nikola Yane Proicou, on behalf of Christos Proicou, 91 East Fourth street;

Florence Irene Newlon, Cook road; Gizella Szaradits, Mansfield, R. D. 2; Martha Roeger, 464 Shepard road; Erich Ernst Schermer, 148 Wolfe avenue; Gottfried Brumm, 130 Blanche street; Anna Kmetz, 138 Vale avenue; Madeline Lasch, Plymouth; Magdalena Schendler, 662 Sloane avenue, and Cyril John Damien Leach, 142 West Sixth street.

The petition of Konrad Bauer, 320 Third avenue, was held over until the next final hearing because of a legal technicality Wenning said the next final hearing would be held next May.

Pallbearers Announced

The list of pallbearers for funeral services for L. H. Beam, prominent Mansfield attorney who died Thursday, was announced today. Services will be conducted by Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner, pastor of the First Methodist church, at the Finefrock funeral home at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Beam's six nephews will serve as active pallbearers.

Honorary pallbearers will be James Bailey, Henry G. Brunner, Charles Nail, W. H. Gugler, W. C. Mansfield, Frank Long, Avery Hand sr., Charles McKinley, Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, Judge Stuart H. Cramer, Judge H. H. Schettler, William Voegele, C. H. Henkel, H. L. Creveling, and Attorney James W. Galbraith.

The Richland County Bar association, of which Mr. Beam was a past president, will meet in front of the funeral home at 1:45 p. m. tomorrow and attend the services in a body.

Tax Payments Show Spurt

Payment of personal property taxes, after lagging in recent days, has begun to improve, County Treasurer Charles C. Payne said today. He attributed the increase in payments to the large tax accounts beginning to come in. Payne urged payments by mail.

A total of $44,836 was collected yesterday, bringing the total to $375,730.

The total charge due is $512,925. Last day for payment is Nov. 10.

DeMolays Meet Here

Chapter Host To Cincinnati Group

Baku chapter, Order of DeMolay, will be host to more than 100 members of the Cincinnati chapter at a meeting to be held at Grotto hall tomorrow. Representatives from other chapters in Ohio also will attend the meeting.

The Mothers club of Baku chapter will serve dinner at 6 p. m. Following the dinner degree work will be put on in full form by the Cincinnati chapter.

Sunday at 9.45 a. m the DeMolays will attend church services at the First English Lutheran church.

The Mansfield chapter will be host at a meeting of the state officers of DeMolay on Sunday. Robert Freed, state master councilor, will be the presiding officer.

Would Sell Eyes to Pay Off Debts

LIMA—(INS)—Cerard F. Omler, 34, Lima father of two children, offered today to sell the cornea from one of his eyes for $10,000.

Omler, employed by a roofing and siding concern, said he made the offer to "liquidate overwhelming indebtedness."

The World War II veteran said one of his children was injured permanently two years ago in an automobile accident and that his wife recently had undergone two major operations.

OSR Escaper Captured

Harry West, 22-year-old Mansfield reformatory escaper, was due back at the OSR today following his capture by Dayton police yesterday.

West escaped from the Sandusky honor camp on Aug. 13, OSR officials said. He was received at the institution on March 28, 1944, from Montgomery county (Dayton) to serve one to 15 years for burglary.

West will be given the usual two-year additional sentence for apprehended escape

New Car Sales Show Increase

Transfers of titles for new cars took a decided jump in Richland county in October as compared with the previous month, Tom Hoffman of the clerk of courts office reported today.

Transfers were issued for 250 new cars in October, compared with 214 titles issued in September.

At the same time, transfers on new trucks and used cars dropped off slightly. Titles were issued for 44 new trucks in October as compared with 48 in September, and for a total of 1,693 used autos last month as compared with 1,743 in September.

Motorist 'Deflates' Prank of Teen-agers

Four East Mansfield boys who thought letting the air out of auto tires was a good joke found the joke backfired last night.

All four of them, accompanied by their parents and deputy sheriffs, put the air back in the tires while the car owner, who failed to see the humor in it, watched.

One of the 12-to-16-year-olds was "captured" by the car owner. The youth revealed the names of the other three. The car owner called for the deputies who rounded up the boys at their homes, informed the parents of the vandalism and took the boys and their moms and dads back to the scene.

At 11:30 p. m. the boys were right back where they started —at McElroy road and U. S. Route 30, down on their hands and knees.

The result: four very red faces and a parental-inflicted curfew of 9 p. m. from now on.

Grange Picks New Officers

Officers were elected at a meeting of Madison Grange at Little Washington church last night.

Those elected were William McClelland, master, Claude Ackerman, overseer; Mrs. Dale Lutz, lecturer; Mrs. George McFarland, steward; Earl Scheier, assistant steward; Mrs. Eugene Cornell, chaplain; Harace Uhl, treasurer, Mrs. Richard Fisher, secretary; Harry Clever jr., gatekeeper; Mrs. Horace Uhl, ceres; Mrs. Claude Ackerman, pomona; Mrs. Robert Hammett, flora; Mrs. Harry Clever jr., lady assistant steward; and Mrs. Ben Valentine, pianist.

Two new candidates, Mrs. and Mrs. Joseph Ferrell, were given the First and Second degrees.

Plans were made to hold a Christmas party for Grange members and their families Dec. 20. Mrs. Harry Clever jr. is in charge of the arrangements.

At the next regular meeting, Dec. 2, the program for the coming year will be given and all standing committees announced.

Claims 'Stuffing'

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The justice department's civil rights section said today it was giving "active consideration" to a complaint involving ballot box stuffing in Bourbon county, Ky., last Tuesday.

Snow Fences Go Up Soon

Snow fences are likely to go up next week in Richland county, County Engineer Walter Rusk said today. They have not been erected yet because of the damp weather.

Rusk pointed out that his department had been waiting for the ground to dry before putting up the fences because damage could be done to fields newly planted with winter wheat when the ground is wet and soggy.

The county engineering department has 10 snowplows with which to combat snow on the 425 miles of roads under its supervision.

Rusk said the equipment was in good condition and should be sufficient to keep the county roads clear throughout the winter.

Sohio Division Official Dies

John E. Tyrrell, 48, assistant division manager of the Mansfield division of the Standard Oil company, died at St. Luke's hospital in Cleveland yesterday after a lingering illness. Mr. Tyrrell lived at 607½ Barnard avenue

He came to Mansfield from Cleveland four years ago.

His death came three weeks after the death, in Mansfield General hospital, of Carl J. Baer, 50, Mansfield division manager, following a week's hospitalization.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Wagemaker Tyrrell; his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Tyrrell, and two sisters, Mrs. Lela T. Reed of Akron, and Mrs. Eunice Matthews of Philadelphia, Pa.

Funeral services will be held at the Spaulding funeral home in Cleveland at 2 p m. Monday. Burial will be in Cleveland.

CLOTHING MISSING

Leonard Alexander, 191 North Diamond street, reported to sheriff's deputies at 12:30 a. m. today that a suit of clothes and a small traveling bag were taken from his room at the rooming house.

Up and Down the Street . . .

SPILLED MILK—

There were no tears over the spilt milk at Fourth and Mulberry this morning, but it was a mighty discouraged dairy truck driver who tried to save the rest of his tangled cargo from crashing to the pavement, too. Although few passersby heard anything but the crash of bottles hitting the sewer grating just south of the intersection, most witnesses believed the side door of the delivery truck had slid back as the truck passed through the intersection, heading south on Mulberry. As the door opened, about six cases of milk fell out in a heap of broken glass, milk and cream.

DIME FLOOD—

The girls in the municipal court office are of the opinion that life would be a lot simpler if dimes were never invented. Yesterday, Neville Harper, Hanna road, appeared at the office to pay a fine and costs totaling $108.60 assessed against him for failing to stop after an accident. He paid $80.60 of the fine in dimes that he and his wife had collected in two jars during the last six months. Misses Gretchen Gehl and Naomi Miller had the tedious task of counting the 806 coins They said they were thankful for one thing. The rest of the fine was paid in bills.

P-TA Council Alters By-Laws

Revision of the constitution and by-laws of the Mansfield P-TA council was approved last night by members of the executive board of the council, acting in accordance with state P-TA regulations.

The revisions will be presented to the next meeting of the council, Nov. 16, for the vote of the membership.

Held in the Chamber of Commerce assembly room, the meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. E. G. Pankow. E. W. Kissel, principal of Bowman school, presented the explanation for the revision and Mrs. Paul Stahl conducted the discussion and revision of the by-laws and constitution of the council.

Court Clears Wallaceite

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Hugh DeLacey of Cleveland, campaign manager for Henry A. Wallace's presidential campaign, was cleared today in Columbus of a charge of disturbing the peace. DeLacey was arrested Oct. 21 at the entrance to the Ohio State university campus, for operating a sound truck in violation of the city anti-noise ordinance.

Legion Reveals Program

Mayor Urges Stores to Close

A spectacular parade of veteran organizations, army and navy reserve units and school bands will feature the Armistice day celebration in Mansfield on Nov. 11, Joseph Denig, commander of McVey post, No. 16, of the American Legion, announced today.

At 11 a. m., exactly 30 years to the minute after the Armistice ending the first World war went into effect, Memorial services will be held in Central park.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn issued a proclamation upon all stores and business places, wherever possible, to close between 10:45 and 11:30 a. m. to allow employes to attend the services as a tribute to the men of World Wars I and II who gave their lives for their country.

He announced also that the city building would be closed during that period.

GENSEL TO SPEAK

At 10:30 a. m., the Legion members will form at the post and march to Central park where services will be conducted by Rev. John Gensel, Legion chaplain.

Flash bombs will be exploded from the roof of the Mansfield-Leland hotel every minute from 10:49 to 11 a. m. to mark the services.

The big parade, which will be divided into five sections, will have five bands from the Legion, Mansfield and Madison high school, and Simpson and Appleseed junior high schools.

The parade will start at 7:30 p. m., moving down Park avenue west to the park, around the park and north on North Main street, then west on Fourth street and back to Park avenue west via Mulberry street.

School Plays Set Tonight

The senior class of Springfield township high school will present two one-act comedies at the school auditorium at 8 p. m. tonight.

"Roughly Speaking," by Emmett Smiley is a comedy about family life in the 1900 period. "I'm a Fool," by Sherwood Anderson is a comedy about horse racing.

Seniors who will appear in "Roughly Speaking" are Gerry Rice, Dave Malaby, Marjorie Cassel, Betty Taylor, Rosemary Tinkey, Bob Letts, Dwight Rader, Jackson Perry, Barbara Odenkirk, and Richard Hunt.

The cast of "I'm a Fool" will include James Zehner, Gene Henke, Glenna Riddle, Donna Davis, Paul Farst, Charlotte Hatmaker, Louise Livingston, and Homer Fox.

Music, furnished by the school orchestra and a string quartet of senior boys, will be under the direction of Herbert Krichbaum.

Mrs. Lois McCullough is play director and Jack Breinich is the class adviser.

Meet Tonight On School Issue

Joseph Denig, commander of McVey post, American Legion, said he would meet tonight with James L. Zimmerman, manager of Vetsville, on the school building and transportation problem in Mifflin township.

Residents of the township said they would ask the Legion to help finance schools in the district since 75 per cent of the pupils are from Vetsville, a tax-free community.

"There apparently is some misunderstanding about this issue, and we want to get it straightened out," Denig said.

Mail Pickup Said Costly On Air Line

All-American Service Hit

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Post Office department has urged suspension of All-American aviation's mail pickup service as a too costly luxury.

Julina T Cromelin speaking for the department, told the Civil Aeronautics board

1. The numerous communities that would be affected by such suspension still would receive postal service comparable to that received by communities of similar size throughout the nation

2. They still would receive reasonable air service by employment of surface transportation to airports in larger communities in their areas

3 There is no reason why communities in the area—chiefly Pennsylvania and West Virginia—should be favored with a costly service over similar communities elsewhere

He said that costs to the Post Office department of the pick-up service have gone up and that mail volume has gone down. To keep All-American aviation in the black so far as that service is concerned, he said, would require an unwarranted increase in the department's subsidy.

He said that many persons who are objecting to the suspension do not understand postal operations No time is saved, he said, if a letter arrives at a post office at midnight and the first delivery isn't until 7 a m A train arriving five or six hours after the plane would, in this instance get the letter to the recipient just as quickly, he explained

All-American has been authorized to substitute regular passenger and mail service for much of its pick-up service, but a provision prohibiting the regular service from paralleling pick-up service will deprive many communities or air mail service.

The proceeding was oral argument, which means that the various parties simply emphasize aloud what they previously have contended in written briefs

All-American favors the suspension.

Fighter Pilot Bags a Goose

QUONSET R I (U P)—Ensign David E Smith, a pilot at the Quonset Point naval air base, didn't need a gun to bag the first wild goose of the 1948 season.

Smith made his kill involuntarily while trying to fly his Corsair fighter plane out of the path of a south-bound flock of geese at 2,000 feet.

One goose zagged when it should have zigged he explained when he landed his Corsair with its radio aerial missing and a feather-spattered dent in one wing.

"CANNONBALL" OVERCOME

BREMEN, IND—(U.P.)—The cannon at the Bremen fair boomed and the crowd watched expectantly for the "human cannonball" inside to shoot through the air into a net 185 feet away Minutes later, attendants found Hugo Zacchini unconscious inside the cannon They said he was overcome by powder fumes The charge wasn't powerful enough to lift him into the air

Newsmen Will Talk On Reader Interest

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Readers who bypass newspaper editorials in their haste to look at the sports page, society columns and the comics will be the chief concern of newspapermen from Maine to Texas who meet here Nov. 18-20.

The national conference of editorial writers calls it a convention, but it might better be called a seminar of a clinic.

The men and women who pen the "think pieces" on American newspaper editorial pages must be well posted in almost every subject from atomic energy to local garbage collection. But planners of the convention say editorial writers also must be able to present their facts in a spritely, popular style so the page assigned to them won't be unexplored country to the average reader.

The breadth of knowledge expected of editorial writers is reflected in the varied topics of the conference program.

The opening discussion will be on "the national problem of natural resources." Discussion leaders will include Tom Wallace, editor emeritus of the Louisville Times and a veteran in conservation work; Dr. William A. Albrecht, University of Missouri; Fairfield Osborn, author of "Our Plundered Planet," and George L. Peterson of the Mineapolis Star.

Other topics will include editorial comment on public questions, research, typography, cartoons. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, executive vice president of the Houston Post, wartime commander of the WAC and now a member of the United Nations Conference on Freedom of Information, will speak on the American overseas information program.

Aspects of European affairs will be discussed by J. M. Roberts jr., Associated Press foreign affairs writer, and Walter Cronkite, formerly United Press bureau chief in Moscow.

Other pseakers include Irving Dillard, St. Louis Post-Dispatch; Murray Davis, New York World-Telegram; H. Clay Tate, Bloomington, Ill; Daily Pantagraph, and A Gayle Waldrop, president of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism.

Water Diet Gets Divorce

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Mrs. Jean Childs, 20, got her divorce, but only after suffering through eight days of a water diet.

The water diet, she told divorce court, was her husband's idea. He wanted her 128 pounds reduced to 110, she said, and to make sure she had nothing but water he even took her to work with him.

The husband, William Childs, 35, an amateur weight lifter, became furious when the eight-day diet still left her weighing 128 pounds, she told the court.

Mrs. Childs also told the court she first gave up smoking on her husband's insistence, then coffee drinking and finally she found herself lifting weights right alongside her husband.

She said Childs was fired from his job as an electrician because he made her sit with him as he worked.

Then, she said, he got a job as maintenance man, and one for her as a cook on a private club aboard a barge 10 miles off Miami, Fla. "He made sure I never saw anybody because he was jealous," she said.

Mrs Childs finally returned to her home here while her husband remained in Miami. Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert gave her a divorce on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

HAPPY ENDING to 11 months of terror behind the Iron Curtain comes for Paul Parr, 11, and his mother, Mrs. Katherine Parr of Los Angeles. Paul was left behind in Yugoslavia with his grandparents when Mrs. Parr fled the Balkans last December. Certain officials, she said, advised her to flee alone, if she were to make her escape, then she could later claim Paul. (International)

Date Set For Milk Briefs

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Interested groups will have until Dec 12 to file briefs in the proposed establishment of floor under prices paid producers in the Cincinnati area for milk.

Will Rogers, U. S. Department of Agriculture examiner, announced the date for filing briefs after hearing arguments for and against the proposal.

Opposition to price floor came from Mrs. Dennis Jackson, president of the Cincinnati Consumer conference, who said grain prices have declined and that there have been milk price reductions in many cities.

William Shroder jr. of R D 3, Lebanon, a Warren county milk producer, asked that the September price level be continued through April. Others who urged the price regulation included Dr. Richard Baker, statistician at Ohio State university, Judge Robert Gorman, representing the milk handlers, John W. Kersey of Waynesville, field representative for the milk producers union, and Paul J. Betscher, secretary of the Cooperative Pure Milk association.

Reds Cable Thanks For Medicinal Gift

Lexington Area Residents To See CROP Program Movie

A sound movie on the relief work that the Christian Rural Overseas Program is doing in Europe will be shown at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Lexington Congregational church.

The picture is being shown especially for residents of Washington and Troy townships, but persons living outside the area also are invited to attend.

The second Ohio food train, sponsored by CROP, will leave Columbus shortly before Thanksgiving. Officials of CROP in this area hope to add a car from Richland county.

"Gifts in kind" of wheat are the most desirable and other farm products are acceptable. Gifts of whole milk and corn cannot be sent abroad because of shipping difficulties, but they will be sold and the money received will be used to buy powdered milk or wheat. Soy beans are a good gift because of their many uses as food, according to CROP officials.

Nov. 21 has been designated as Milk Sunday and dairy farmers are asked to donate as many cans of milk as possible. Regular receiving stations will credit their value to CROP.

Barkley Calls Poll Reports 'Misleading'

Charges They Offer Propaganda

PADUCAH, Ky. — (U.P.) — Vice-President Elect Alben W. Barkley hadn't quit fighting just because he got elected to the second highest job in the United States.

He took a few swings at the professional polls, after he finished with the Republicans.

The "home town" boy who made good more than 40 years ago was the cause of a wild victory celebration in Paducah But even before the celebration was over, Barkley took time out to charge that polls "mislead the people as to what will happen"

The Senator from Kentucky said this is the second time the people have been misled by polls in a presidential election. He referred to the Literary Digest poll which wrongly predicted an Alf Landon victory in 1936, and the Gallup and Roper polls this year which said Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican nominee, would win easily.

Barkley declared, "the evils of such polls is that they present propaganda. Perhaps the polltakers are not going to the right people."

He added, "despite the polls, however, the election proved that the citizens of the United States made up their minds to do their own thinking."

Barkley said among the reasons for the Democratic victory were dislike of labor for the Taft-Hartley Act; failure of the GOP 80th Congress to do anything about housing, federal aid to education or increased social security; prosperity of the country, and satisfaction of the farmer with the Democratic farm policy.

He also said that women, apparently moved by the desire for peace and for action against the high cost of living voted overwhelmingly for the Democratic party.

Zero Weather Said Facing Pilots on Berlin Airlift

LONDON — (U.P.) — A British weather expert has predicted that the Berlin airlift would have to face "zero weather conditions" about "one day in every four" during the next few months.

Only 3,300 tons, 2,000 tons below the set standard, were flown into Berlin yesterday because of fog and rain. The Gatow Airport Weather bureau has predicted similar conditions during the next 48 hours.

American and British pilots flew 222 planes to Berlin yesterday, setting their worst mark since the lift started on June 24. But group Capt. Brian Yarde, British commanding officer at Gatow, said, "we are budgeted for this sort of weather and our reserves are high."

The Royal Air Force, using ground control approach, managed to make 1883 flights, but only 39 American planes reached Templehof air base, which is surrounded by high buildings and other obstructions that prevent blind landings during zero conditions.

Eire Tourist Trade Boom

DUBLIN (U.P.) — Irish hotels, restaurants, railway and shipping companies are reaping a rich harvest from the greatest tourist invasion the country has known.

Normally the holiday season ends in September, but this year it was pushed into October. Many of the big hotels are completely booked and tourists continue to pour in by the thousand .While there are still many arrivals from the United States and Continental countries, British visitors now predominate in numbers To these escapees from stringent austerity the plentitude of unrationed food and drink that Erie offers is a great attraction.

Top price Dublin cafes and taverns are crowded all day by cross channel people "having a go" at the good things of the table and the cellar. Beefsteaks, eggs, milk, ice cream are abundant in Eire and though the high prices being charged for them in the fashionable restaurants made the ordinary Dublin resident shudder, the visitors pay with a smile.

The tourists brought wealth—estimated recently by Daniel Morrissey, Minister for Industry and Commerce, to be £35,000,000 this year—to Irish traders. To Irish housewives, however, they only brought a headache because of higher prices

Whistles Way Into Court

BUFFALO N Y (U P) - George R. Reiller, 42, a painter employed at Buffalo State Hospital, will think twice before he gives forth with a wolf whistle again The last one landed him in City Court for breach-of-the-peace.

Attractive 20-year-old Elma Kittinger said Reiller would give her "an up and down look" accompanied by the observation "I like that."

Reiller was placed on probation. He explained, "After all, I'm not so old, and I hope I never get so old that I don't turn when I see a nice looking girl"

Football Theme Used In Dance Of Friendly House Group

Members of the Holiday Dance* club of Friendly House held a danc in the form of an "Autumn Scrimmage" at Friendly House last night.

Decorations for the dance were based on the autumn season and interest in football. The gym was decorated with fall symbols, signs reading "entrance to the stadium," and a tackling dummy in the center of the room. Favors in the form of small footballs were given to each guest.

Special entertainment at the dance was in charge of a committee headed by Daronda Klein which included Barbara Wentz and Vivian Uhl

Advisers for the club are Miss Dorothy Aubrey and Miss Joan Beer Officers of the group are Virginia Hullinger president Gerald Jones vice president Lowell Hess, secretary and Harold Restelli sergeant-at-arms

Wednesday night 100 attended a 'Spooks Hop' at Friendly House, sponsored by members of the Jack and Jill club

Reds Gain Ground In Key Mediterranean Base

Cypriots Develop 'Red Rot'

See Base As Second Malaya

By DANIEL DE LUCE

CYPRUS —(AP)— Communists appear starting a fight to the finish for Cyprus, keystone of Anglo-American strategy in the eastern Mediterranean.

Soviet Russia has never had so much as a consulate on this vital island. But Moscow-trained Cypriots are baffling the British colonial office with their fifth-column tactics.

A labor party peer, Lord Winster, is governor. He is known to have filed strong warnings against the "Red rot" here. As yet, however, observers claim that no effective counter-measures have been authorized. They speak gloomily of "another Malaya."

Two big objectives are charged to Cyprus communists:

Sabotage of Anglo-American plans for developing the island into an important air and naval base against possible Soviet encroachments in the middle east.

Political and economic chaos leading eventually to severance of the island from the British empire and its adherence, under the guise of self-government, to an expanding Soviet bloc.

Under the bewildered gaze of British colonial officers communists here have achieved more, proportionately, than Thorez in France or Togliatti in Italy.

Red mayors run the majority of Cyprus towns. The municipal government of Limassol, an important seaport, is headed by Plutis Servas, who spent from 1929 to 1934 in Moscow.

The largest newspaper on the island faithfully echoes Pravda.

Communists dominate the Pan-Cyprian Federation of Labor. It controls 15,000 of the island's 18,000 organized workers, including those employed by the British civil administration and British military garrisons.

In the backward, arid countryside, communists are enrolling small farmers and the landless in a union of agriculturalists.

Communist-front organizations have sprung up like weeds. There is one for workers' wives. Another caters to the youth. There is also one for Cypriot ex-servicemen.

Communists, in their operations, keep communism in the background, but rally the discontented in leftist coalitions which they guide. There is no communist party in the open here. Their principal instrument is called the Progress Party of the working people.

An unintentional aid to communist proselyting has been the traditional inertia of a colonial government regarding economic progress. Cyprus badly needs development of small industries, soil conservation, irrigation works, and more electrical power.

PALS—Police Lt. Al Guzzi and three young friends study the fine points of box kite construction.

Ex-GI Fights Crime By Befriending Muncie Kids

By CHARLES W. WHITE
Central Press Correspondent

MUNCIE, Ind.—Juvenile delinquency, the plague of modern urban life, is being controlled here mainly through the work of an ex-GI who has dedicated his life to kids.

He is Albert L. Guzzi, a police lieutenant, who has been in charge of juvenile work in this city of 58,000 since Jan. 1, 1940, during both Republican and Democratic administrations.

That, incidentally, is one of the secrets.

"So far as the kids are concerned, politics is out in Muncie," said Mayor Lester Holloway, a Democrat, on taking office this year. He kept Republican Al Guzzi on the job.

You won't be in Muncie long before you hear about Al Guzzi, a big dark-complexioned, good natured fellow of 40 who got his start in life working in a Charleroi, Pa., steel mill. Italian descent, married, two kids of his own.

Guzzi has a small first floor office down at city hall, and a desk that isn't much used. Baseball equipment, basketball stuff, old uniforms, are apt to be scattered on chairs and tables.

There is a side entrance from the street, and any moment some breathless moppet may burst in without knocking . . . skates to be fixed . . . work permit to fill out . . . maybe just a visit.

They even wheel bicycles in there, since this is the center for bike matters. (Guzzi conducts a "bicycle court" for safety violators, with kids acting as judges, prosecutors and jurymen.)

This is another reason why the Muncie system works. All juvenile activities, including safety, sports, jobs and entertainment—instead of only law violations—center around the juvenile office, which works in close contact with schools, YMCA and the Boys' club.

Three citizens appointed by the mayor work voluntarily with Lieutenant Guzzi, keeping available day and night to help where needed. They are H. A. Pettijohn, YMCA secretary, whose boys' Bible classes take national honors yearly; the Rev. Richard Puetz, a Catholic priest, who is an ardent youth advocate, and A. D. Johnson, elementary school principal. Legal supervision is provided by Judge Joe Davis, of the county circuit court, and his probation officer, Mrs. Mary Olsen.

Everybody in Muncie, for that matter, seems to be "hepped" on the subject of kids. Civic clubs send Guzzi's school safety patrol boys to Y camp every year, and provide equipment for two baseball leagues. Whenever Guzzi wants something—like a wrestling mat, recently—he just asks.

"These people have never failed me," he says.

Last year Guzzi took on an assistant, Tommy New, when business got too much for one man.

Mrs. Ellen Shea handles special cases dealing with women and girls. All three salaries total $7,200 a year—less than $150 a week!

A tour around Muncie with Al Guzzi is an experience not soon to be forgotten.

"Hi, Guzzi!" . . . "Hi, Flatfoot!" . . . "Hi, Copper!" . . . all in one block recently from boys and girls going home from school.

"Hey, Johnny," he yelled out the police car window to one urchin—"you'd better get down to the station quick if you want that catcher's mitt!"

Invariably if a kid gets into any kind of trouble he insists on seeing his trusted friend, Guzzi, first. The officer finds out what's wrong, corrects it. He puts youngsters on their honor, and it works. It isn't hard to work with so-called tough kids, he finds, when you have their confidence, and when you try to be worthy of it yourself.

Lieutenant Guzzi attributes all juvenile maladjustments to conditions at home, except possibly rare medical cases. Where parents are not directly to blame, modern machine-age society is, he believes.

"Broken homes . . . moving . . . divorces . . . separations. Poverty, where both parents work, or where they won't stay home and look after their kids.

There's more of the latter than you'd think," he says. His pet aversion is what he calls "beer-joint" mothers and fathers.

Lieutenant Guzzi has handled about 1,500 delinquency cases, everything up to armed robbery. While he was in the Army cases increased to 325 in 1945. In 1946, with Guzzi back, they were down to 121—in a city with more than 10,000 school age children.

"I wouldn't change jobs for a million dollars," Al Guzzi says. "Want to know why? Because I'm doing the most important job in the world. And dealing with the finest people there are in the world—KIDS!"

Italy's Jails Overflowing

ROME (U.P.)—Italy's surplus population makes housing tough all around. Even the state prisons have announced they can't take any more customers.

The state prisons now hold slightly more than 100,000 persons. A government report said "such a figure is not excessive, if one takes into consideration the development of delinquency in Italy since the war."

The Italian government said its prison population still was inferior proportionately to those in France and England, and added that the biggest difficulty was in having an insufficient number of penitentiaries and no funds to build new ones.

Taft Blames 'Prosperity'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Republicans lost Tuesday's election because the country is prosperous, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) believes.

"We had thought that other circumstances would balance the boom factor, but they didn't do so," Taft told reporters yesterday as he arrived from his home in Cincinnati.

President Truman's election shows, he said "it is almost impossible to put an administration out of office at the very peak of a prosperity boom."

Cat, 19, Lives Life of Reilly

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(U.P.)—Once called Twiddles, now named Boss, George Shepp's 19-year-old cat could answer to the name Reilly, for that's whose life she's leading.

Mrs. Shank bequeathed Shepp a frame house and $4,000 cash with the provision that he care for Boss the rest of her nine lives.

Akron East 'Thins' Choice In State Cross Country

Akron East's district championship cross country team is favored to displace Akron North as the state harrier champion tomorrow at the Coolridge course at 11 a. m.

Coach Bob White's North team has won four of the last six Ohio championships, including the titles in 1946 and '47. However, East, second in Ohio last year, knocked off North in the Akron district run last Saturday

Six of the first eight finishers of the 1947 competition will be back That list includes the two Akron schools. Cleveland West Tech, 3. Mansfield, 6, Lakewood, 7, and Columbus West 8

Only Warren Harding and Cleveland John Marshall are missing

SEVENTEEN TEAMS

Some 17 seven-man teams and 20 individuals will compete Saturday over the toughest two-mile harrier test in the state It will be the sixth state championship conducted by Coach Harry Mehock at Coolridge.

Mehock's Mansfield team could easily finish among the first five The Tygers have beaten six state entrants — Springfield, Toledo Scott, Newark, Cleveland Rhodes, Akron Garfield and Columbus West while tying Dayton Dunbar The Tygers have lost to Akron East and Toledo Waite

Mehock put up new flags around the course this afternoon He has requested that several former Tyger trackmen show up to help officiate

Paul Hammond, the former football letterman, Rudy Sheetz, Alan Poorman, Jerry Gerrell, Jack Howell, George Middlebrook, and Jim Kibler will run for Mansfield Poorman, Sheetz and Kibler placed in the state meet last season. Hammond has placed one-two for the Bengals in the only three meets he has run.

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Ernest Rowell, 18-year-old Cleveland welterweight, suffered a "severe" brain concussion last night in a six-round semi-final bout with Bobby Neal of Beaver Falls, Pa., at Aragon Arena

Shelby Meets Upper In Homecoming

SHELBY—The Shelby Whippets will play host to the Upper Sandusky Rams tonight at the high school stadium in Shelby's annual homecoming game.

The Rams will be hard to beat Keyed up from tying the league leading Bucyrus team last week the Uppers will be out to win with hopes that they can tie for the league leadership if Bucyrus loses tonight's league battle at Bellevue.

However the Whippets can win tonight if they play a wide open game and play for the breaks

UNPREDICTABLE

The Rams have been unpredictable this year They defeated Norwalk by one point and lost to Bellevue. Meanwhile Shelby defeated Bellevue but took a 25-7 walloping from Norwalk. Last week, the Rams tied Bucyrus who a few weeks ago gave the Whippets one of the worst beatings a Shelby team has ever taken

On paper it appears that the Rams should be a four to five touchdown favorite, however, if the Whippets continue the fine defensive play they have shown in the last two games and open up their offense The Rams may end up on the short end of the score. Shelby Fullbalk Jim Berry could be the surprise of the game at fullback

Three Ohio College Grid Powers Battle Tough Foes

By JIM DAILEY

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Three of Ohio's undefeated college football teams were in grave danger of falling off the roof today as the fans' appetites were whetted by many a morsel on the weekend's grid menu.

Those in danger were Denison, out after its 17th consecutive win and seventh of the season, Bowling, and Miami. And of the three, Miami appeared to have the toughest task.

The Redskins must try to stave off Dayton's Flyers, fresh from last week's triumph over Xavier. The Miami outfit has also previously beaten Xavier, and that by a score of 9-0, so if you are strictly a form man the Redskins would have to get the nod

FEELING PRESSURE

Denison, which barely eked out a 7-6 victory over Muskingum and appeared to be feeling the pressure of its long winning streak, will tackle Wittenberg The Wittenberg club is in-and-out but rough this season It gave Denison the fight of its life last year and might turn the tables this time out.

Bowling Green meets Kent State in a traditional battle that was almost a toss-up. But a slight edge had to be awarded to the Beegees on the strength of their undefeated season

Heidelberg and Wilberforce, the other two undefeated teams in the state, were heavily favored to take their games against easier opponents. Wilberforce takes another of its rambling trips as they travel to meet Delaware State at Dover, Del., and Heidelberg should roll over Wooster.

Pitt's Panthers invade Ohio stadium to play the role of underdog to Ohio State's big bad Bucks. Ohio Coach Wes Fesler, who tutored the Panthers in 1946, is a little wary of his former charges but Ohio fans were more optimistic The 12-0 upset of Ohio State last year perhaps had a little to do with Fesler's attitude.

CINCY FAVORED

In tonight's games Cincinnati was favored over Miami, Fla., and Mississippi college was slated to win over Youngstown

Saturday, Rollins of Winter Park, Fla., was expected to make the trip to Ohio Wesleyan just for the licking, Hiram was favored over Canterbury at Danville, Ill., and Wilmington was slated to take Franklin at Franklin, Ind.

Maryland State was favored over Steubenville, Xavier over the Quantico Marines, West Virginia over Ohio U., at Morgantown, W. Va., and Cedarville was the choice over Rose Polytechnic at Terre Haute, Ind.

Wabash had the edge over Marietta, Wayne over Toledo, Mt. Union over Muskingum, Oberlin over Carnegie Tech, Findlay over Defiance, Capital over Ohio Northern, Ashland over Bluffton, Baldwin Wallace over Case and John Carroll over Marshall.

Host to Mt. Gilead

FREDERICKTOWN — The Fredericktown high school football team will be host to Mt Gilead here tonight. Mt. Gilead has won but two of seven games.

Court Officials Meet Monday

The North Central Ohio basketball officials will meet Monday at 8 p. m. at the Naval Reserve Armory, Jimmy Lymper, president of the organization, announced today

New basketball rule changes will be discussed with Jack Robeson, Mt. Vernon, in charge of the meeting. Lymper has requested that area basketball coaches attend as there are several important new rules.

COLLEGE CROSS COUNTRY
Baldwin Wallace 21, Wooster 38

Favored Over Pete

NEW YORK —(INS)— Charley Zivic, Pittsburgh middleweight, is favored to defeat Pete Mead, of Grand Rapids, Mich., in their ten-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

Senior High Gridders Seek Sixth Victory

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

SINCE MOST of the experts got quite a kicking around on THAT big election this week, we will not feel a bit bad if we miss a few now and then. . . . Of course, things in football haven't been bad when picked by the Stuffer in the past couple of weeks . . . We blew smokerings on some 89 college contests last Friday and the old prognostication stogie was right on just 67 of them . . . There were 19 misses and three deadlocks . . . So for the season the record now reads 377-119-21 . . . On the Ohio front we can see Ohio State spoiling that fine Pittsburgh winning streak . . . Pitt has its best team in nearly a decade but the Bucks kinda remember last year . . . That's when the unheralded Panthers smeared State, 12 to 0, for their only victory . . . Only overconfidence should bother Mansfield Senior high against Marion Harding tonight . . . The Tygers should win easily . . . However, some scouts that have seen both teams play rate Harding a chance . . . They base their ideas on the fact that almost any team can run through the Tygers . . . But back to the colleges and a mess of forecasting puffs from the old stogie.

Fair Marion Club Battles Mansfield 11

With five wins in seven games under their belts, the Mansfield Senior high Tygers are favored to claw Marion Harding into submission tonight at Arlin field. The kickoff is listed for 8 o'clock.

Although not the greatest football team in the state, the lads of Augie Morningstar could improve on their 13th place ranking with a convincing win over the Harding club. Marion has won only three of seven games against average competition.

This will be the first meeting between the two clubs since the 1946 Bengals unloaded a 33-to-13 beating on the Presidents at old Stadium field. From all past results, the Tygers must be rated a four to six touchdown choice.

COULD BE TOUGH

However, this margin may not come off. Marion has a potentially tough squad, well-stocked with nine lettermen. Two of them were on that 1946 team. But something has been lacking in the 1948 campaign. If Coach Pete Howison can get his club in a winning frame of mind, tonight's battle could be an interesting football spectacle.

In Clarence Smith and Jack Bishop, Marion has two big tough backs. The line looked better than ever before as Harding defeated Ashland last week, 19 to 7. Scouts tab Smith as one of the best backs they have seen all season. He must be all of that as his scoring chart shows 14 touchdowns, five more than Capt. Joe Miller has made in leading the Bengal point-making.

BOTH TEAMS RUN

Marion runs a lot off a winged T and does very little aerial work. The Tygers are also stingy in the use of ozone tosses so tonight's battle shapes up as a terra firma duel. That should favor Mansfield as Morningstar has a plethora of backs who can really lug the mail. In fact nine backs have traveled over four yards per carry. Little Tommy Tucker is tops with 11.1 and Miller has 10.8.

Morningstar announced this morning that his crew is in good condition and the regular starting lineup will be in there at kickoff time.

★

A number of good seats — including some on the 50-yard line — are still available for the game according to ticket manager George Sherman. Ticket windows open at 6:30 p. m.

The Marion band will share the half-time program with Senior high's Marching Tygers.

The probable starting lineups and weights follow:

Mansfield		Pos.		Marion
Carver (137)		LE	(170)	Isaly
T. Weaver (175)		LT	(150)	Bomas
Tipper (175)		LG	(180)	Laura
Russell (150)		C	(175)	Jerew
Jim Miller (165)		RG	(172)	Williams
Shibinski (195)		RT	(165)	Geran
B. Weaver (150)		RE	(151)	Hoffman
Ferguson (145)		QB	(174)	Leffler
Joe Miller (180)		LH	(126)	Kennell
Tucker (140)		RH	(179)	Bishop

Miami Turns Down Request

HAMILTON—(AP)—The Hamilton-Middletown high school football game on Nov. 20 will have to be played here regardless of the huge demand for tickets.

Miami university officials yesterday turned down a request that the high schools be allowed to use the Miami field for the game. Construction work on the campus, the fact temporary bleachers will be down and a bad traffic situation were given as reasons for refusing the request.

Hamilton now is rated the No. 2 team in the state in the Associated Press poll and Middletown is ranked No. 3.

2 Golfers Tie For Open Lead

PINEHURST, N. C. —(INS)— Clayton Heafner and Chick Harbert were deadlocked for the lead with 36 hole totals of 141 today as they went into the third round of the North-South open golf championship at Pinehurst.

Detroit's Harbert, who fired a 68 on the first 18 to take the lead with Amateur Julius Boros of Bridgeport, Conn., and Glenn Teal of Charlotte, N. C., slipped to a 73 on the second round.

Heafner, also from Charlotte, added a 72 to his opening 69 to gain the lead with Harbert.

Pennsylvania Showdown Tops College Football Slate; Missouri and Oklahoma Share the National Spotlight

NEW YORK —(AP)— An All-Pennsylvania showdown in the east and a bitter struggle for supremacy in the midlands top the weekend collegiate football schedule on which all but one of the nation's nine major unbeaten elevens were rated heavy favorites to preserve their perfect records.

Mighty Pennsylvania (5-0) runs into equally efficient Penn State (4-0-1) in the eastern headliner at Philadelphia. Pennsylvania was no more than an even choice to hold its position in the perfect record circle.

Their sectional tussle shares the national spotlight with Missouri and Oklahoma, which have scored a total of four victories over southwest conference teams this year, in a head-cracking match for the lead in the Big Seven. Missouri was a slight favorite, but the conference crown can't be settled until both tangle with Kansas later this month.

Unbeaten Army (6-0) and non-winner Navy (0-6) are involved in the major intersectional games. Army takes on Stanford (3-4) at Yankee Stadium, New York, in a modest replacement for the discontinued Army-Notre Dame series. Navy goes against Michigan (6-0) at Ann Arbor.

Like unbeaten Michigan, North Carolina (6-0) was held highly over William and Mary in a southern conference game and California (7-0) had a large spread over U.C.L.A. in the far west. Down the rest of the unbeaten list: Notre Dame (6-0) was, of course, favored over Indiana, Georgia Tech (6-0) over Tennessee, with Clemson (5-0) a strong favorite over Furman and Nevada (6-0) over Santa Clara.

By conferences around the nation.

Big Nine—Since Michigan, the title favorite, probably won't go to the Rose Bowl, interest centers on second-place Northwestern (5-1), favored at Wisconsin. Minnesota is held over Purdue, Illinois over Iowa in other league games. Ohio State is a choice over Pittsburgh in a non-conference game.

Pacific Coast—Oregon, unbeaten in the conference, clings to fond hopes that California will be beaten and put Oregon in the Rose Bowl. The Webfoots, who don't meet California this year, are favored to down Washington, and Washington State is favored over Oregon State. But California easily figures to remain the top dog against U.C.L.A.

Southeastern—If Georgia Tech slips against Tennessee, Georgia could take over undisputed lead by defeating Florida. Mississippi State is held over Auburn, Vanderbilt over Louisiana State.

Southern—North Carolina and ily in conference games against William and Mary and Furman, respectively. Duke, unbeaten in the league but tied once, is a favorite over Wake Forest, Maryland over South Carolina.

Southwest—Texas is a slight favorite to hand Baylor its first conference defeat. Southern Methodist is high over Texas A. and M. and Arkansas seven over Rice. A Texas victory would give S.M.U. a chance to gain sole possession of the lead.

Big Seven—Oklahoma-Missouri is the big game out there this week since Kansas is idle. None has been beaten in the league.

Big Six—Colorado A. and M. and Utah, unbeaten in the conference, meet for the lead on Colorado grounw.

In the east, Cornell is favored over Colgate, Dartmouth over Columbia, Holy Cross over Duquesne, Princeton over Harvard, Temple and Syracuse even.

Northwestern Big Favorite Over Badgers

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—Northwestern is handily favored to enhance its Rose Bowl notions with a victory over the Badgers at Madison, Wis., tomorrow in what looms as the most significant Western conference game of the day.

Notre Dame, Northwestern's foe a week from tomorrow, is expected to do a little more damage to the Big Nine in trouncing Indiana at Bloomington, Ind. Another non-conference game sends mighty Michigan, co-favored with Notre Dame for the national collegiate championship, into battle against everybody's punching bag, Navy, that game is at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Ohio State entertains Pittsburgh in the third non-league game of the afternoon.

CONFERENCE GAMES

In conferenced play, besides the Northwestern-Wisconsin argument, Purdue goes to Minneapolis to play Minnesota and Iowa moves in to play Illinois at Champaign, Ill.

That game may be the best in the entire midwest. The Illini, who held Michigan to a 28-20 victory score a week ago, would ordinarily be expected to surpass Dr. Eddie Anderson's Hawkeyes, but it's feared quite generally that Illinois is mentally "down" for this one.

Few persons believe that Purdue will be able to stop Minnesota tomorrow.

Northwestern, which must beat Wisconsin to retain its second-place standing behind Michigan in the league race, goes into the game with considerable respect for its Badger foe.

Harry Stuhldreher has developed an offense which, statistically and actually, has accomplished more on the ground than any other Western conference team.

New London Cats Seek Third Win

NEW LONDON—Bellville's high scoring Blue Jays will be the opponents here tonight as New London's Wildcats will attempt to continue their longest winning streak in several years.

The Wildcats will be after their third straight victory and fourth in eight games tonight. Bellville, however, has run over seven opponents with little trouble and will be an odds-on favorite to notch No. 8.

Pro Football Attendance Drops Off In Both Leagues

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK —(UP)— A "suicide" attendance decline in professional football is threatening the majority of clubs in both the all American conference and National league, a United Press survey revealed today.

Despite the fact that payrolls for star players and other expenses are up sharply, the attendance for 68 games to date this season is off 12.56 per cent from the corresponding number of games in the 1947 season.

Thus far for the two leagues, 1,937,721 fans have paid their way through the turnstiles as compared with a total of 2,216,286 for the same number of games last year—a drop of 278,565.

NATIONAL GREATER

The decline is greater in the National league where only one club, the Chicago Bears, shows an increase in crowds over 1947. The total attendance for 31 games to date is 845,341 as compared with 1,019,906 for the same number in 1947. That is a drop of 78,565 cash customers or a percentage loss of 17.12.

In the rival all-American loop a total of 1,092,380 fans have paid to see 37 games, whereas in 1947 the total was 1,196,380, a drop of 104,000 and a percentage decrease of 8.69. Three clubs in that circuit—San Francisco, Baltimore and Brooklyn—show attendance gains.

The decrease becomes more pointed when the crowds are broken down per game. Component club officials in both leagues have estimated that they need crowds of nearly 40,000 per game to break even in this era of cut-throat rivalry and unbridled bidding for star players. Yet the average crowd this far in the National league is 27,269 and in the all-American only 29,524 cash customers have been attracted per game. Last year the average National league crowd was 32,901, up 5,632 from this season. In the all-American last year the average crowd was 32,335, up 2,811 from this year's average gathering.

The most drastic drop in attendance in either loop is in Boston where the National league Yanks are off 50 per cent with only 30,079 fans on hand for three games as compared with 60,379 for three games last year. The champion Cleveland Browns have suffered the greatest loss in the all-American loop where crowds are off 66,000 with 202,000 on hand to date for five games this year as against 268,000 in 1947.

Bucyrus Seeks To Cinch Win In NO League

Bucyrus will be seeking to clinch its first Northern Ohio league football championship when it meets Bellevue at Bellevue tonight.

The Redmen hold a one game lead over Upper Sandusky and can wrap up the title with a victory whereas a defeat would likely give them a tie. Upper Sandusky plays at Shelby and should have little trouble knocking out a victory.

The two top teams battled to a 7-7 draw last week at Upper Sandusky.

Other games on the season's last complete card send Norwalk to Crestline and Galion to Willard. Galion is still seeking its first league victory while Willard has won only one game.

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	Op.
Bucyrus	5	0	1	177	27
Upper Sandusky	4	1	1	97	78
Norwalk	4	2	0	147	60
Crestline	3	2	0	74	57
Bellevue	3	3	0	90	105
Shelby	2	3	0	57	100
Willard	1	5	0	51	175

Rams Battle Tough Wooster Grid Team

By CHARLIE STINE

After seven games of battling their season to a perfect draw, the Madison Rams will hit the road to Wooster tonight in an effort to bring their record above the .500 mark. Underdog Madison has won three, lost three, and tied one.

The Ram squad will leave in a special bus from the school at 6 p. m. with the anticipation of having 45 minutes to suit out before taking the field at 7:30. Students will make the trip in a school bus, which will leave a short time later. Game time is 8 p. m.

Only one change will be made from the starting lineup of last week. Pedro Pryor, who opened at right guard, is nursing a broken left hand injured in the Delaware game and may sit out tonight's contest. He will be in uniform, however.

Pryor has been the hardluck guy of the squad all season, having been out twice before with injuries. He missed the first three games with a head injury, then broke a finger on his left hand as soon as he came back. His place will be taken by Bill Remy, who has started every game except last week's at the position.

The Wooster team, which has won three of seven games against heavy competition, is not taking Madison lightly. Coach Gene Coleman has had the Maurer field lights turned on several evenings so that he could work the team for full two-hour sessions.

Particular attention is being paid to the passing, since only one of six attempts made good last week. If the Generals are serious about their passing, an aerial duel may result. Madison's ozone offense got clicking for the first time last week and will undoubtedly be tried again.

Wooster is also going into the game minus the services of a regular guard, 186-pound Everett Fry. Fry was hurt against Mt. Vernon and is out for the season.

Dad's night will be celebrated with both the Wooster high school and Wooster college bands taking part in the halftime review.

Ram Reserves Win Third of Season, 13-0

Madison high's reserve gridders scored their third victory in five games yesterday by trimming the Shelby reserves, 13-0, at Shelby. It was the last game of the season for Coach Blaine Dowler's eleven.

The Little Rams scored in each of the first two periods and coasted to victory. They marched 50 yards to paydirt the first time they got their hands on the ball. Chet Sprague knifed off-tackle for the score from the 20-yard line.

Just before the half ended, Marty Kiepp, Madison end, made a vicious tackle that popped the ball out of a Shelby back's hands into the waiting arms of Tackle Tony Schag. Schag rambled 30 yards for the score and Don Hartman booted his first extra point to complete the scoring.

Hartman, the left-footed sophomore who also place-kicks for the varsity, booted two of his three kickoffs into the end zone.
